

Strike End Delayed As Airline Refuses No-Reprisal Pledge

Engineers Refuse to Return Without Western's Promise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Western Airlines is the big stumbling block in the way of settlement of the nation's greatest air traffic snarl, a spokesman for striking flight engineers said today.

The point at issue with Western, a Pacific Coast operator, is a pledge not to join in reprisals against the strikers. The airline had announced dismissal of 130 striking engineers, with plans to replace them with pilots.

White house sources said today President Kennedy has been advised the flight engineers strike can be ended promptly if Western Airlines goes along with commitments by other struck companies.

This picture of the situation had been outlined to Kennedy by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The report coincided almost precisely with an outline given to newsmen by Engineers Union sources.

Goldberg arranged to give Kennedy a first-hand report on settlement efforts during the morning.

Goldberg won a two-hour extension of time for an attempt to negotiate a settlement.

The agreement was announced at the White House a few minutes before a previously agreed deadline—noon EST today.

Stating flatly that "there will be no deal without Western," the union spokesman said headquarters here has more than 1,000 telegrams to that effect from its members.

Other Problems Solved

The union spokesman said attorneys for the strikers and the operators met until after 3 o'clock this morning and worked out many of the other problems. He indicated confidence that the remainder could be solved without much difficulty if Western would go along.

That estimate of the situation was considerably more optimistic.

Smith Solves Problem Withdraws Name As Envoy to Swiss

WASHINGTON (AP)—Earl E. Smith, Palm Beach financier, has asked President Kennedy to withdraw his name as ambassador to Switzerland. He thus got Kennedy off a diplomatic hook.

Smith's appointment, never formally announced, was criticized strongly in the Swiss press. It drew some adverse comment at home, too.

A Republican, Smith was ambassador to Cuba in the Eisenhower administration until just after Fidel Castro took over. He was quickly replaced there by a career diplomat.

Castro said Smith was too friendly with Fulgencio Batista, the dictator Castro overthrew.

Since the United States broke diplomatic relations with Cuba recently, the Swiss have been handling U. S. interests in Havana at U. S. request. Much of the Swiss criticism apparently centered on this factor—that the new appointment of Smith might cause embarrassment and difficulty in carrying out these duties for the United States.

Appointment Surprise

Smith's appointment to Havana was regarded as a political appointment. During his election campaign, Kennedy often struck out at political payoffs in the naming of ambassadors.

There was some surprise, therefore, when it became known here that Smith was Kennedy's choice for the Swiss post.

But Smith is a long time friend and neighbor of the Kennedy family at the Florida resort. While vacationing there before taking office, Kennedy played golf with Smith several times.

The Swiss government did not openly oppose Smith, but its cabinet delayed approval of him and made it clear it would rather have someone else.

All this presented Kennedy with a rather tricky problem. If he withdrew Smith's name himself, he would have risked charges that he knuckled under to Castro's displeasure.

But Smith provided the graceful way out by his announcement Wednesday night at his Florida home. He said he asked the White House to withdraw his name "because of the controversy that has been stimulated."

Sports Car Put Awash by Navy Ballast Water

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—When a navy blimp dumped some ballast water, scoring a direct hit on a sports car, the result was a pretty unhappy sports car driver.

William A. Skiles, 29, yesterday demanded an apology and $1.50 for a car wash. He charged his car was drenched with "dirty bilge water" Sunday as he and his wife watched the antics of ducks on Newport Harbor's upper bay.

After the water-bombing, Skiles admittedly tried to hit the offending aircraft with a rock. His wife, Marilyn, estimated the rock was "about 900 feet short of its target."

Big Season Coming Up in Sports World

The Post-Crescent sports department is gearing itself for one of the busiest seasons in the always hectic world of sports.

In the next month, the breath-catching high school basketball campaign will come to a foot-stamping climax with district, regional, sectional and state tournament competition.

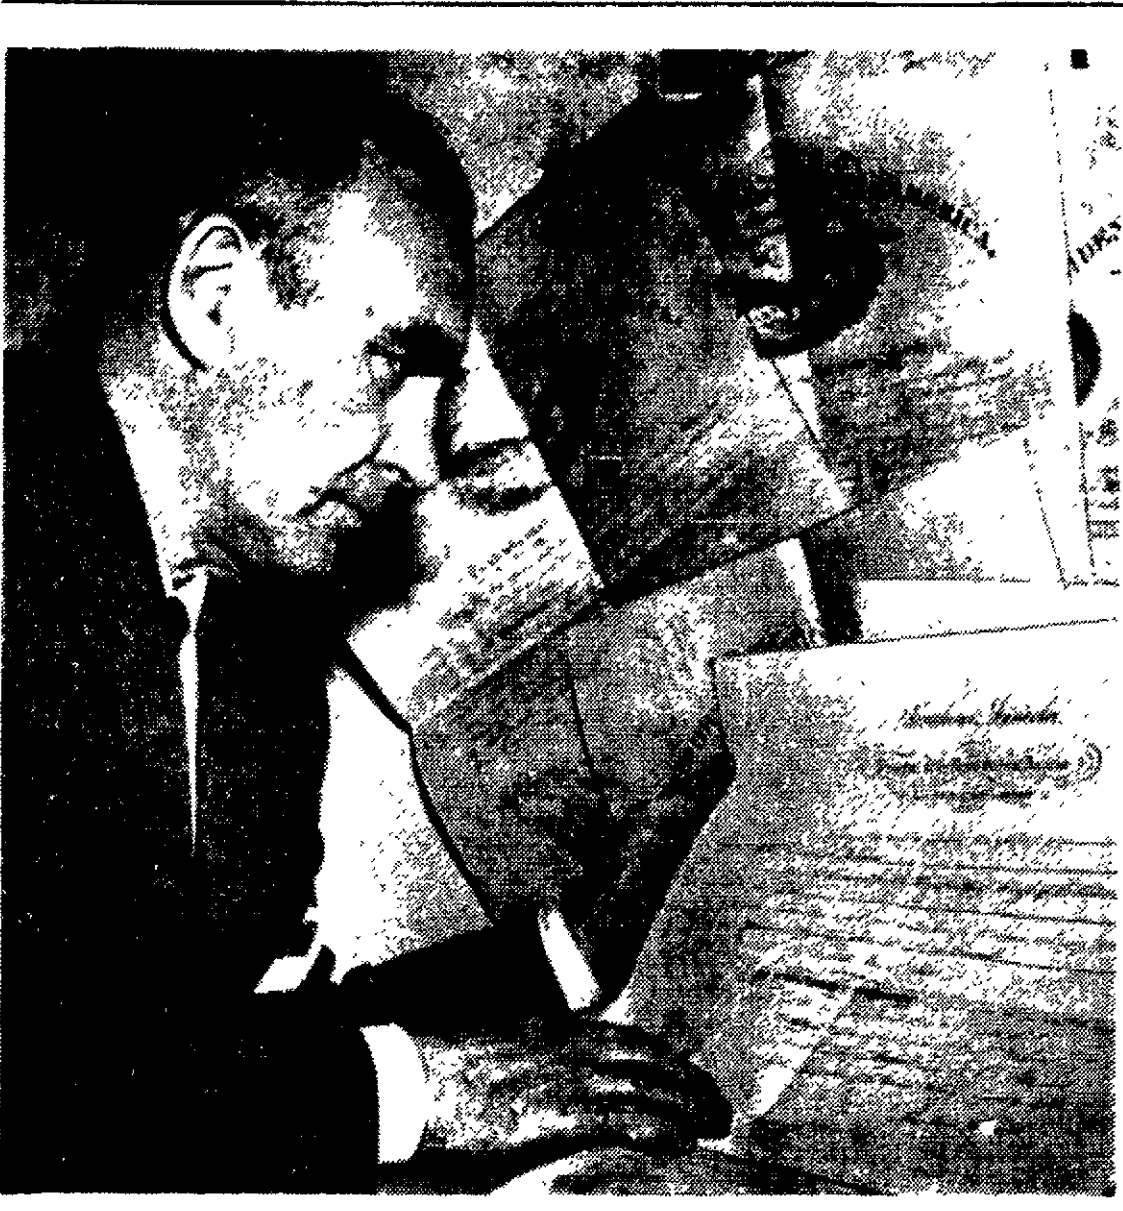

And even as the prep stars and their cheering backers meet throughout the state, down in the sunny southland American and National League baseball players begin the long spring training session which will end with the start of the 1961 pennant races. Training with the major leaguers are the stars-of-tomorrow, some of whom will be on the roster of the Fox Cities Three - I League entry.

Kennedy Outlines Program To Develop U.S. Resources

Police Capt. Peter Conroy examines rare Lincoln documents in San Francisco. The documents were stolen from the University of Chicago library and later turned over to San Francisco police by a poet who said they had been given to him. Nelson Backs Executive Plan Law for County Governments

Appleton's Priebe Co-Author Of Bill To End Committee Rule

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — Gov. Gaylord Nelson Wednesday put his support behind a measure sponsored by two Fox Valley Republican assemblymen to allow counties to put a chief executive in charge of county government.

Nelson's position was recorded at a public hearing of the Assembly municipalities committee of legislation sponsored by Assemblymen Jerome Quinn, Green Bay, and Kenneth Priebe, Appleton. The governor's support of the plan for county executives was delivered in a statement read by David Carley, director of the Department of Resources Development.

The measure as amended early this month also gained support from A. J. Thelen, legislative spokesman for the Wisconsin County Boards Association. Without support for this organization, the county executive plan is given little chance of adoption by the Legislature.

Many Governments

In reporting the governor's position, Carley said county boards have grown in size along with the number of their duties. The board is supposed to be the county legislature and have administrative functions at the same time.

"The result is government by standing committees which means, in fact, not one county government but many governments," Nelson's statement said.

Wisconsin traditions are against a strong executive but the people of urban counties are now aware of the need for a central administrator, Nelson's statement said. The idea of a county executive should be supported particularly in counties with large cities and suburbs where the executive could bring a d in the problems of annexation and zoning, he said.

No Power Loss

Nelson's statement found no reason for fears of loss of power by county boards which worry about such things. The opposite would be true, he said.

County boards would gain important power in the field of policy making because they would be freed from the mass of small operational decisions now in the hands of board committees, his statement said.

The Priebe - Quinn proposal is a comprehensive amendment to a bill introduced in January by Quinn. It was the amendment which got support from Nelson and the County Boards Association.

The chief changes in the amendment from the original Quinn bill—and those backed by the County Boards Association—are those which give all counties the option

Hit Proposed Ban on Youth Night Driving

MADISON (AP)—A bill to prohibit after-dark driving by persons under 18 received youthful and impressive opposition Wednesday at an Assembly Highway Committee hearing.

Ann Reinke of the Oshkosh Youth Council told the legislators: "You are hurting the youth groups that are doing the most good for the state."

Raps Joy-Riding

Assemblyman Alexander Grant, R-Green Bay, said the purpose of his bill was to keep youngsters from driving to keep taverns and engaging in dangerous joy-riding on the highways.

But representatives of the Oshkosh and Madison youth councils said that students under 18 are prohibited by law to drink beer. They suggested the way to correct any lawbreaking was at the source—in the beer taverns.

"If it's the beer taverns you're out after, then cut them out," said one youth group leader.

Lincoln Spirited Into Washington One Hundred Years Ago Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—One hundred years ago today, at 6 o'clock in the morning, President-elect Abraham Lincoln slipped into Washington wearing "a scotch plaid cap and a very long military cloak."

No hands played. No crowds so that he was entirely unrecognized against police lines. In his inimitable Lincoln did acknowledge the tumultuous receptions to edge donning a soft wool hat on which presidents-elect were then his journey to Washington, but and are now accustomed. No one, said it was a gift from a friend almost, was there to greet him. In New York.

Lincoln, nine days before his Lincoln's critics were elated. inauguration, had not wanted to "the flight of the city of his political desecration." Lincoln was ridiculed in stealth. Friends, however, as a coward who would stoop to feared for his life. They were terrified by reports that rebel-sympathizers in Baltimore were plotting to assassinate him. They persuaded him to creep through we know it today. Maryland, Maryland by night train, when no through which Lincoln would travel, was alive with men who pictured Lincoln as a demon. Gov. Lincoln lived through it, all Thomas H. Hicks advocated union. He lived to rue it. There of all the states and had been really had been nothing to fear, threatened for his beliefs. Baltimore enemies said. Was the nation more Police Marshal George P. Kane was an open secessionist

Only a few weeks earlier he had scoffed at rumors that assassins were aiming a knife at Lincoln A lie, Kane said, concocted by barroom rowies.

Year of Tension

This was 1861, a year of tension almost unbelievable in 1961. Lincoln set out from his home in Springfield, Ill., on Feb. 11. En route to Washington he met the people, talked with political leaders—in essence, cultivated support for his administration. He made 20 speeches, conferred with five governors. In some places he was greeted with pandemonium, in others with elaborate but tepid courtesy. In Philadelphia, on Feb. 21, he was greeted with a warning.

Allan Pinkerton, the detective, said he and his men had uncovered what "beyond the shadow of a doubt" was an assassination plot. Among the instigators, he informed Lincoln, was a barber named Ferdinand and another man named Hill. Ferdinand and

Don't Kill for Revenge, U.N. Asks Gizenga

Cites Reports on Vengeance Shooting Of 15 Prisoners

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations disclosed today a new appeal to leftist leader Antoine Gizenga in Stanleyville against political revenge killings in the Congo.

The U.N. released a letter to Gizenga from Rajeshwar Dayal, Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjöld's special representative in the Congo, taking note of reports that 15 political prisoners in Stanleyville had been shot in revenge for the slaying of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

"It is absolutely essential that the killing of persons who have become only the playthings of odious and uncontrolled passions should cease," Dayal said.

Belgians in Danger

"I refer in this connection," he added, "not only to all the Congolese political prisoners, but also, and in particular, to the eight Belgian soldiers now imprisoned at Stanleyville who, it is also alleged, have been or will be executed for the murders committed at Bakwanga."

He referred to six associates of Lumumba who were executed earlier this month at Bakwanga, in South Kasai province.

There was no confirmation here or in Leopoldville of rumors yesterday of reprisal shootings in Stanleyville.

The eight Belgian soldiers were captured several weeks ago after straying across the border into Oriental Province from Ruanda-Urundi, a neighboring Belgian U.N. trusteeship. Concern about their fate had been expressed previously by the Belgian government.

Meanwhile Hammarskjöld sought the help of Belgium in getting Belgian military personnel and political advisers out of the Congo. He sent a letter to Walter Lorrain, Belgian ambassador at the United Nations containing suggestions from Hammarskjöld's Congo advisory committee.

Sheldon Business Files Bankruptcy

SHELDON, Iowa (AP)—Northern Biochemical Corp. of Sheldon has taken the first steps toward voluntary bankruptcy, paving the way for the formation of a new company.

This is the firm which went into the hands of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. After the closing last month of the Sheldon National Bank, its principal stockholder was Mrs. Burnice Geiger, 58, who embezzled more than $2 million from the bank and gave Northern Biochemical credit of about $700,000.

Reporting the governor's position, Carley said county boards have grown in size along with the number of their duties. The board is supposed to be the county legislature and have administrative functions at the same time.

"The result is government by standing committees which means, in fact, not one county government but many governments," Nelson's statement said.

Stresses Long-Range as Well as Immediate Plans; Raps Eisenhower's Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today sent Congress a program for vast development of America's natural resources. He asserted Eisenhower administration policy took a heavy toll of lives "by postponing essential flood control projects."

In a special message, the President set forth plans for both immediate and long range dealing with a host of problems in the field of resources. He said: "If we fail to use these blessings prudently, we will be in trouble in a short time."

He called for facing up to the problems now, and added: "The task is large but it will be done."

Kennedy placed no price tag on his far-reaching program which, among other things, envisages development of economically competitive nuclear power within 10 years to replace or supplement power from conventional fuels in areas where such fuel is expensive.

Estimates Delayed

Administration officials said they won't be able to estimate the added cost of the over-all Kennedy program over present levels of resources spending until studies by the Budget Bureau and other federal agencies have been completed. These officials indicated.

Data Sought on U. S. Defenses

Pentagon Officials Called to Testify At House Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon's top officials were summoned today to paint for a House committee the nation's defense picture as the Kennedy administration views it.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, were called for the closed session by Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., veteran chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

"Gaps" Included

In issuing the invitation, Vinson pointedly suggested that McNamara talk about "missile gaps or any other gaps he has on his mind."

McNamara recently was quoted as saying there was no missile gap with this country trailing the Soviet Union.

That put President Kennedy on the spot, because he had made a major campaign issue out of the alleged missile gap. The President said when asked about McNamara's statement that no studies had been completed as yet on the problem, McNamara also said in later statements that the studies still were under way.

In the Senate Wednesday Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said there is no question the administration thinks the United States is behind the Soviet Union in missile power and is doing something to close the gap.

Committee Backs Extension of Aid To Unemployed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house ways and means committee today approved legislation for President Kennedy's billion-dollar program of temporary unemployment aid.

Democratic leaders said they expect passage in time to meet the administration's goal — payment to the long-time unemployed by April 1.

The committee version includes the financing plan favored by Republicans and most business spokesmen who appeared before the committee. The estimated $990 million cost would be repaid during 1962 and 1963 by a temporary four-tenths of 1 per cent increase in the payroll tax employers now pay.

The bill provides for continuing unemployment insurance payments to jobless persons who have exhausted their basic rights under the federal-state unemployment insurance program.

The payments would continue up to one half the time the various states originally provided. Since the longest state program is for 26 weeks, the maximum extension would be 13 weeks. Payment would be at the weekly rate provided by the various states.

Brazil Will Vote for U.N. Discussion on Seat for Red Chinese

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—President Janio Quadros has instructed Brazil's delegation at the United Nations to vote for discussion of seating Communist China the next time the question arises.

By misinterpreting a note from Quadros to the delegation published here last night, the Associated Press erroneously reported that Brazil's new president ordered it to vote for seating the Peiping government.

Nevertheless it is believed that if the U.N. General Assembly changes its longstanding arrangement to bar discussion of admitting Peiping and decides to vote on the actual question of admission, Brazil would vote yes.

Quadros has been making overtures toward the Communist bloc as part of his campaign for an "independent" foreign policy for Brazil. He also has been seeking to neutralize leftist opposition to his plans for an austerity program to combat inflation, and this could be one way to do it.

Bill Would Hike Car License Fee to Finance State Parks

Conservation Committee Backs Plan for $2 Visitors Sticker

MADISON (AP)—A bill to increase Wisconsin auto license fees by $1 to finance the state parks program will be offered by Sen. Robert Travis, R-Platteville.

Travis announced his plan Wednesday as the Senate Conservation Committee recommended passage of a bill to require a $2 auto sticker for visitors to state parks.

Chairman Clifford Krueger, R-Merrill, cast the only committee vote against the sticker plan. He said he thought the auto license system would be better.

Travis said the auto license increase would provide a more stable system of financing park financing than auto stickers.

State Forester John Beale said the park sticker would add $759,000 to the park budget in the next two years. He also pointed out that Wisconsin is surrounded by states requiring park stickers.

Sen. Reuben LaFave, R-Oconto, co-author of the bill, said the measure also would set a $175,000 maximum on funds that could be taken from fish and game receipts for park support.

Sen. Chester Dempsey, R-Hartland, co-author of the sticker bill, said Wisconsin's parks now are financed by "a hodge-podge system."

"The parks are not up to par with those in other states," said Dempsey. "Wisconsin only spends about 11 cents per park visitor, while Minnesota doubles this amount and Michigan triples it."

Propose Tax on Chain Stores Be Rejected

MADISON (AP)—Rejection of a bill to impose up to $1,000 in taxes on chain store outlets was recommended Wednesday by the Senate Taxation Committee.

Opposition to the measure was registered by a number of witnesses at a public hearing.

Only Sen. Norman Sussman, D-Milwaukee, author of the bill, spoke in favor of the proposal to place a progressive tax on chain stores.

The bill would put a $50 tax on the second store in a chain and increase the levy until it reached $1,000 per store for chains with more than 10 outlets.

Sussman, himself an operator of an independent grocery in Milwaukee and president of the Independent Neighborhood Grocers Association for the past eight years, said the tax would bring the state $4 million every two years.

Chain stores are doing nothing but "eliminating the people who support the state of Wisconsin," he said.

Consequently, said Sussman, chain stores "create unemployment which we taxpayers have to support."

Representatives of taxpayer groups throughout the state, from public utility, petroleum, food, and bakery industries jointly registered opposition to the bill.

Political Appointees

Seven of the Kennedy appointments are career diplomats, six are political appointees.

The 13 Eisenhower envoys replaced include six career diplomats, seven political appointees.

Kennedy, whose father was a politically appointed ambassador to London, raised the issue of the food, and bakery industries jointly registered opposition to the bill.

"I believe it incumbent upon the next president of the United States," he said, to appoint "the best people he can get. Ambassadors who can speak the language—not merely people who make a political contribution, but can speak the language."

Against such criticism, Eisenhower administration defenders said: (1) The State Department was already pushing language training for foreign service officers, (2) the frequently-rotated diplomats could not possibly learn every intricate language where they might be sent, and (3) the top officer in many embassies can operate effectively without the local language.

Newest Envoys About Same as Ike's Choices

Kennedy Selections Have Qualifications Similar to Others

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has been picking new ambassadors with about the same language qualifications as former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's ambassadors.

A check of Kennedy's 13 announced choices of men to represent America at foreign capitals showed today that: Eight speak a language native to or commonly used in the countries to which they are sent—five do not. Their Eisenhower predecessors had the same ratio of language qualifications.

Kennedy also has been selecting about the same proportion of career men as Eisenhower.

For example David K. E. Bruce of an independent grocery in Milwaukee and president of the Independent Neighborhood Grocers Association for the past eight years, said the tax would bring the state $4 million every two years.

Chain stores are doing nothing but "eliminating the people who support the state of Wisconsin," he said.

Consequently, said Sussman, chain stores "create unemployment which we taxpayers have to support."

Representatives of taxpayer groups throughout the state, from public utility, petroleum, food, and bakery industries jointly registered opposition to the bill.

Use in Disputes

Atty. Alfred G. Goldberg of Milwaukee, representing the State, AFL-CIO, said labor feared the use of state police in labor disputes.

Appearing in favor of the bill were representatives of the Wisconsin Council of Safety, the State Motor Vehicle Department, and the Wisconsin American Automobile Association.

No action was taken on the bill, which is a weaker version of a measure defeated earlier. The patrolmen now are limited to making arrests for traffic violations.

State Senate Okays Plan to Lower Stock Assessments

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Senate gave unanimous approval today to a constitutional amendment that would allow merchants' and manufacturers' inventories and farm livestock to be assessed at a lower rate than other real or personal property.

The proposal, already passed by the 1959 Legislative session, was immediately messaged to the Assembly. Approval there would place it before voters in a referendum April 4.

Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, touched off a short debate with a remark that enactment would force the adoption of "something in the nature of a sales tax" to replace revenue that would be lost to localities.

Included in new legislation introduced was a measure by Democratic Sens. Horace Wilkie of Madison and Richard Zaborski of Milwaukee. It would amend the Constitution to eliminate from the state ballot the offices of secretary of state and state treasurer.

The sponsoring senators said in a statement that continuing the offices as election positions would be "ridiculous."

Oppose Move For Additional Police Powers

Bill Would Give State Patrol More Arresting Authority

MADISON (AP) — Another attempt to increase the arrest powers of the State Traffic Patrol collided with opposition from local law enforcement agencies and labor groups Wednesday.

Opponents told the Assembly Highway Committee of their fears of the creation of a state police force.

There were 58 persons registered against the bill, which would give state patrolmen arrest power when they see a misdemeanor committed or have reasonable grounds to believe a felony has been committed. Only five persons registered in support of the measure.

Groups Represented

Most of the opponents represented the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association, the Wisconsin County Police, Deputy Sheriffs and Radio Operators Association, and the Wisconsin State AFL-CIO and its allied labor groups.

A representative of the Wisconsin Chief of Police Association, Atty. William McCusker of Madison, also opposed the bill. However, he said a limited increase in arrest powers should be approved.

Use in Disputes

Atty. Alfred G. Goldberg of Milwaukee, representing the State, AFL-CIO, said labor feared the use of state police in labor disputes.

Appearing in favor of the bill were representatives of the Wisconsin Council of Safety, the State Motor Vehicle Department, and the Wisconsin American Automobile Association.

Viet Nam Chef Declines Bid to Cook for Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House won't be having high French cuisine with a Viet Nam flavor after all.

Word came from London that Bui Van Han, 50-year-old Viet Name chef in the French embassy there, had turned down an overture to join the White House staff.

Bui's magic touch—a delicate blend of the French and Asian styles—has become a byword among London's diplomatic gourmets.

But after some soul-searching, he cabled President Kennedy "sorry, cannot make the trip to become your chef."

The White House had a somewhat different version of the affair. Press Secretary Pierre Salinger took pains yesterday to explain that the whole thing came about because of well-meaning but unauthorized feelers put out by friends of Mrs. Kennedy.

They had heard Bui was planning to come to America anyway, and hoped to snare him for the White House.

But the White House social secretary, Letitia Baldrige, said she wrote Bui that the White House kitchen staff "was perfectly adequate" and there was no need for his services.

The London chef seemed to think he had a firm offer. He was quoted as saying he had asked the White House for a few days to think it over before deciding to stay where he was.

Southern Senator Opposed to New Education Offer

Byrd Declares Kennedy Proposal Would Open Door to Integration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., sparked fresh Southern opposition to President Kennedy's aid to education program with the assertion today that it will open a back door to school integration.

Byrd said he is convinced after an analysis of Kennedy's proposals for federal educational grants to states to spend as they see fit that the program will "pave the way for the most colossal sort of expenditures."

But even more distasteful to him, he said in an interview, is what he regards as the probability that Congress eventually may require school desegregation in all states accepting federal funds.

Real Danger

"No one can guarantee that there will not be federal efforts to control our schools to this extent," Byrd said.

"Any bill Congress passes now may not carry a desegregation provision. But there is real danger that on some future bill appropriating the money to make the payments to the states a rider may be attached saying that no funds shall go to any state which does not desegregate its schools."

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff told a news conference Monday he believed it would be a great tragedy to use federal aid to education as a lever to end school segregation.

Ribicoff endorsed the 1954 Supreme Court ruling against segregation in public schools. But he said he would oppose any amendment that would deny federal aid to schools because they are segregated.

Efforts Matched

Byrd's outspoken opposition to the education program was regarded as significant because some Kennedy administration officials believed the Virginian might go along because of the state control features of the Kennedy bill.

Their efforts to woo Byrd over to their side have been matched by attempts to chip other Southern Democrats away from a bipartisan conservative coalition opposing the Kennedy proposals.

Even strong administration supporters like Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., are wary of any intrusion of the school segregation issue.

Smathers, secretary of the Senate Democratic Conference, said he supports the "general principles" of the Kennedy program. But he added that he will stand with other Southerners against any effort to enforce integration through it.

Byrd's colleague, Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., told the Senate Wednesday that Kennedy's proposals have raised the issue of government help to church schools.

NERVOUS INDIGESTION NERVOUS HEART

This day and age of speed with its accompanying worry, excitement, and emotional upset, throws a heavy burden upon the nervous system. In the brain lie all the centers of control for the organs, muscles, and all functions of the body. It can be readily understood how upsets in the nervous mechanism can disrupt body functions. As the spine is the main conduit for the nervous system, mechanical interference in the spine can likewise cause trouble.

Nervous indigestion, nervous stomach are names applied to some of the diseases produced by nerve irritation when an involvement of the nervous system is obvious; however these conditions are forerunners of the more serious chronic disorders.

More and more are turning to Chiropractic for these ailments as they realize how important normal nerve function is to their health.

Controversial Issue

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Endorsement of artificial birth control, a topic of stormy religious controversy in this country, was proposed today before a representative cross-section of American Protestants.

Action on the matter was scheduled by the policy-making general board of the National Council of Churches

A team of theologians spent more than a year in working out the recommended pronouncement, the first of its kind undertaken by the interdenominational body.

Besides upholding contraception as a Christian means of regulating family size, without impairing the "mutual love and companionship" of husband and wife, the statement also

Urges the United States to extend "family-planning" aid, when requested, to countries with soaring, underfed populations

Condemns Restriction

Condemns state laws restricting birth control information and materials

Both these questions are thorny. Pending before the U.S. Supreme Court is a case challenging the 80-year-old Connecticut law forbidding prescription and use of birth-control devices. About 30 states have kindred restrictions. The question of whether this

Youths Picket Missile Conference in Protest To Arms Build-Up

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A group of persons, identifying themselves as Youth for Nuclear Disarmament, Wednesday picketed the Franklin Institute where the director of the Navy's fleet ballistic missile program spoke.

The pickets, who said they are calling for a halt to the U.S. and Soviet arms build-up, marched in the rain past a full-sized model of the Polaris outside the institute. Several of the pickets, most of whom were college students, carried placards. The picketing was peaceful.

Speaking before a joint meeting of the Franklin Institute and Engineering Societies, Vice Adm. William F. Raborn said the Polaris is the most powerful weapon ever conceived and a major deterrent to war.

Earlier, at a news conference, Raborn said that by 1964 atomic submarines carrying the Polaris will be able to hit any spot on the earth.

country should give birth-control aid to overpopulated lands first arose in late 1959. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower indicated it was a problem for private agencies. But the council statement maintains the job is too big for them.

It notes that inter-church friction is not over birth control itself, but over the means used to achieve it, and adds that most Protestants approved both contraception and periodic self-restraint.

Catholic Church

The Catholic Church sanctions only the so-called rhythm method—avoiding intercourse during a woman's fertile periods.

And this is condoned only for grave reasons, such as economic or health factors.

The National Council of Churches includes representatives of most major Protestant and orthodox denominations—34 of them with 40 million members.

In advance of the council's action, orthodox churches held to their traditional view that marital abstinence is the only proper means for family limitation.

On another front, the council Wednesday night called for federal aid to public schools, but opposed such aid for parochial and other private schools. It also urged medical care for the aged through the Social Security system. Both moves parallel programs of President Kennedy's administration, with congressional skirmishing now going on over them.

Japs Attempt to Ease Victim of Robbers

Repay American Professor Who Lost
$2,250 to Thieves With Hospitality

TOKYO (AP)—The governor of Kyushu, Malaya. The professor is associated with the Hooper Foundation of the University of California Medical School in San Francisco.

Little Finesse

Friedgood said he hadn't had time to exchange his cash for travelers' checks until he reached Tokyo, and that here he was told he would have to make the exchange downtown.

Three Japanese, showing little finesse in light-fingered criminality, jumped him as he was about to board a train.

"They pushed me against the train and ransacked me from all sides," said the white-haired professor. "I could feel them going through my pockets."

Local newspapers got the story from the police. Gov. Ryotaro Azuma of Tokyo called on Friedgood to apologize. Several college students, gathered at Tokyo Airport as Friedgood left for Malaya the next day, offered apologies for "the national disgrace."

Handed a Doll

When Friedgood called at the governor's office today on his way home, he was handed a doll. An Osaka schoolgirl had sent with her regrets and Japanese yen worth $2.78 mailed by a college student.

So far Friedgood has received a dozen letters or more and cash equal to about $42. He told Azuma he wants to use the money to start an organization among Japanese youth for improving human relations.

Until he takes a plane Monday for Honolulu and home, Friedman will sightsee as the governor's special guest.

The professor said he has little hope of getting his $2,250 back. "I lost very little but gained a lot," he commented.

Subs Never Needing Refueling May be Constructed Soon

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Nuclear submarines which will never need refueling may be built soon, says Capt. William R. Anderson, former skipper of the nuclear sub Nautilus.

Anderson, who took the Nautilus on its historic trip under the North Pole, gave an interview Wednesday.

"The Nautilus could go 60,000 miles on its first load of fuel," he said. "Before long it will be possible to build a reactor that will not need refueling for the entire life of the ship—maybe 25 years."

Anderson, of Bakersville, Tenn., is now an aid to the secretary of the Navy. He said the most significant recent occurrence regarding nuclear subs was President Kennedy's action in accelerating the Polaris missile program.

Policemen Watch for Beds on Highways

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State police are on the alert to deal with any highway bed pushing.

It appears that pushing beds is the latest collegiate kick—like swallowing goldfish or crowding into telephone booths. The pushing of a bed along a road—any road—is the idea.

Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs is prepared. He said a catch-all state law would be invoked. The law says no one shall refuse to comply with a police officer directing or regulating traffic.

Toyko Police Chief Yields; Resigns Post

TOKYO (AP)—Tokyo's police chief, Ken Ogura, resigned today. He had been under fire because of an upsurge of ultra-rightist terrorism.

Ogura had been police chief for two and a half years. The National Public Safety Commission accepted his resignation and sent it to the cabinet for approval.

More Emphasis on Federal Power

Centralize Plans For Education, Health, Welfare

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — Some day the historians may say that the Kennedy administration marked a new epoch in the American system of government — the beginning of the end of the 50 states in their traditional and constitutional role.

For, without change of a word in the federal constitution but by use of the power of appropriation of public funds, the states are headed for a role hardly more important in the future than that of cities and counties.

Big government — centralized government — has been given a new impetus.

This very week the President has proposed to Congress that $5.6 billion be spent for education — school construction and teachers' salaries — and he has asked also that Social Security taxes be raised to finance various social programs.

What does it all mean? Will the states hereafter be merely vehicles for political party organizations to help win a presidential election, and will the states of smaller population be continually subsidized by the taxpayers of other states? Perhaps the clearest explanation, if not the prophesy, of what is coming was given the other day by the new undersecretary of health, education, and welfare, Ivan A. Nestingen. He was formerly mayor of Madison. He was talking to a session here of the National Industrial Conference Board and there were in the audience the heads of many of the large businesses of the country.

100 Years Ago Lincoln Stole Into Capital

Hill liked their liquor, Pinkerton said, but decidedly did not like Lincoln.

"I am here to help in outwitting the assassins," Pinkerton announced.

Frederick W. Seward, son of the senator who would become Lincoln's secretary of state, arrived that night from Washington with a similar report. He urged Lincoln to cancel dates in Philadelphia and Harrisburg the next day and head immediately for Washington, without notice. So did railroad executives Norman P. Judd and Samuel M. Felton.

Lincoln refused. On Feb. 22 he raised the flag at Independence Hall, went to Harrisburg, made two speeches, attended a reception and hotel banquet. There he finally yielded to Judd and Felton, but reluctantly.

"What would the nation think of its president stealing into its capital like a thief in the night?" he asked.

Night Ride
The night ride began in a one-car train. Ward Hill Lamon, with whom Lincoln once practiced law in Illinois, was the president-elect's only companion. Lamon carried two pistols, two derringers and two large knives. The train was blacked out. Harrisburg was cut off from the world. Telegraph wires had been disconnected.

Pinkerton directed a cloak and dagger melodrama in Philadelphia. He whisked Lincoln and Lamon by carriage from one depot to another. A lady detective had reserved berths in the rear car of the New York-Washington train one for her "invalid brother." Lincoln was the "brother."

Pinkerton did not realize that another passenger on the car packed a revolver. This was John A. Kennedy, New York Police superintendent, who likewise did not realize the company he was in. Kennedy was on his way to Washington to make sure Lincoln would be carefully guarded through Maryland the next day.

At 3:30 a.m. the train pulled into Baltimore. During a layover of more than an hour, a drunk reeled and sang "Dixie" on the platform. There was no incident, no sign of Ferdinand.

At 6 a.m. the train reached Washington. A stranger to Lamon strode up to Lincoln and said, "You can't play that on me." Lamon swung into action but was checked by Lincoln who recognized the man as Rep. Elihu Washburne of Illinois. Washburne was a one-man reception committee, suggested by Senator Seward. Later that day the presidential special from Harrisburg arrived as scheduled in Baltimore. It was met with thunderous yells — for Jeff Davis and the Confederacy — and boos for the man who wasn't there.

Lincoln had been spirited into Washington.

Lawrence

He made this significant observation, which was not fully reported in the press:

"The question is, as has fairly frequently been raised to me: On questions of education, on matters relating to Social Security or aid to people in the field of welfare, or in the field of health, why is it that we have to centralize everything in a national administration? Can't we take care of it at a state or local level?"

No Tax Authority

"I want to say this in answer to that, as a former municipal official: If we do not find a positive program coming forth from the federal government on these matters that are of concern, you won't have the action that is going to be needed to meet these problems in the years ahead for several reasons, and they are these:

"First of all, states and local units of government, on planes of varying degrees, don't have the financial wherewithal to provide for these needs. They do not have the taxing authority that is found in the federal government, and they are not able to meet these needs at a local or state level in good part.

"We all are aware of the financial problems that are faced by some of the states, and the limited financial means and still the great resources, the great human resources they have within their population, but the inability to provide for them on some of these programs.

"Another reason why you will not be able to find a good and adequate answer, and the answer that needs to be furnished at the pace that it needs to be furnished from a local and state level, is that you do not have the political jurisdiction in which to act.

Lack Political Control

"Too many of these problems in the field of education, in the field of water pollution, in the field of air pollution, in the field of general welfare, do not have at the local level the political jurisdiction and control to act on these matters on a broad base.

"The federal government is going to take these steps. It is going to have to be in the best interests of all of us that these steps are taken by the federal government."

The above really shocked some of the members of the audience who talked about it among themselves afterward. One businessman said it negated the assurances President Kennedy had given at the same meeting when he spoke of "strengthened programs for health, education and science and research" and declared that "many of these programs are within the province of state and local governments." He had added that full recovery "will increase the tax revenues that they so sorely need." He had spoken only of the federal government paying "its fair share of development of these human resources" and not taking over the full responsibility in place of the states and cities.

Even more reassuring were the words of Vice President Lyndon Johnson, who said that "this administration does not and will not seek great new powers by proclaiming great new terrors" and that the purpose of the new leadership is "not to aggrandize government in order to make the state supreme."

But when the years have passed and there is a retrospective glance at what began to happen in America in 1961 under the Kennedy programs, the historian may have to concede that Under Secretary Nestingen was more nearly right than any other speaker about the gradual erosion of the constitutional powers of the states by the use of the U.S. treasury's taxing authority and by the exercise by Congress of its assumed right to pass laws spending the taxpayers' money as it pleases. President Maps Plan To Develop Resources reau of the Budget, working with appropriate department and agency heads, to schedule a progressive, orderly program of starting new projects to meet accumulated demands, taking into account the availability of funds.

In this case and generally throughout his message Kennedy mentioned no specific projects. Legislation detailing these is expected to go to Congress later.

"From the beginning of civilization, every nation's basic wealth and progress has stemmed in large measure from its natural resources," Kennedy told Congress. "This nation has been, and is now, especially fortunate in the appropriate technical and other blessings we have inherited. Our entire society rests upon—and is dependent upon—our water, our land, our forests and our minerals."

Shortages in Future

Kennedy continued: "But even under conservative projections, we face a future of critical shortages and handicaps. By the year 2000, a United States population of 300 million—nearly doubled in 40 years—will need far greater supplies of farm products, timber, water, minerals, fuels, energy, and opportunities for outdoor recreation."

He said "Wise investment in a resource program today will return vast dividends tomorrow, and failures to act now may be opportunities lost forever."

Single Program

Kennedy said his goal was to bring together in a single message "the widely scattered resource policies of the federal government." He added that in the past these policies have overlapped and often conflicted, "and funds were wasted on competing efforts."

The President said he was striving for coordination of policy by:

- Directing his Council of Economic Advisers to enlarge its staff and report on the status of resources programs in relation to national needs.
- Establishing, under the council, a presidential advisory committee on natural resources.
- Instructioning the budget director to formulate within 90 days general principles for application of fees, permits and other user charges at all types of natural resource projects.

Kennedy said that in marketing federal electric power, preference will be given to public agencies and cooperatives.

In outlining plans for water resources development, the President said "we reject a 'no new starts' policy." Kennedy did not name the Eisenhower administration but aides said this was a slap at his predecessor's regime. Kennedy and other Democrats contended during the campaign last year that the government under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower stifled development of water resources by advocating an economy policy, which, the critics said, blocked the start of new projects.

"Such a policy," Kennedy said today, "denied the resource requirements and potential upon which our economic growth hinges; and took a heavy toll in added costs and even human life and homes by postponing essential flood control projects."

As for the future in this field, the President said: "I have requested the director of the Bu-of going into the executive plan and which provide a further option of election of an executive by the people or appointment of the county board chairman or county clerk to the executive. The county board would make the latter choice.

The original bill limited the county executive plan to seven counties with largest population, including Brown, Outagamie, and Winnebago, and provided that the executive must be elected by the people for a four-year term.

"The reason for the amendment is that the smaller counties would be able to combine their county executive with their board chairman or county clerk," Quinn told the committee.

While they support the bill with the option, both Quinn and Priebe said their personal choice was for a direct election rather than a county board appointment.

Priebe, who served on a Legislative Council committee on county government last summer, said county government was established in 1848 without debate at the constitutional convention. Counties have a dual role of being an administrative subdivision of the state and of providing local functions, he said.

Other Supporters

"Yet, in both roles county government generally is restricted by powers received from the Legislature," Priebe said.

With the growth of urbanization, counties have become more important units of government but have no tools with which to meet this new assignment, Priebe said.

The bill also recorded support from the Wisconsin League of Women Voters and Earl Warren, a Racine assemblyman. Randolph Runden, Racine County Board chairman, however, was against the idea.

He was the only opponent at the hearing. He might support the plan if there was a clearer definition of the executive's duties and if the board kept its appointment power, like naming the highway commissioner, Runden said. He could find no fault with the present method of preparation of the annual budget by his board's finance committee.

If the executive is elected, the bill calls for a four-year term and said James Meyer of the Oshkosh Youth Council.

"Slap in Face"

Another council member, James Wood, said respectable students would consider passage of the bill "a slap in the face." He said if some youth under 18 breaks the law by drinking, there is no reason to believe that they would not also drive at night in violation of the law.

Chairman Hugh Harper, R-Lancaster, and other committee members praised the fine presentation made by the young people.

Harper said the proposed driving ban is a big issue around the state. He said he has received letters reporting students taking election at the April election on a non-partisan ballot. The term probably will have to be changed to two years if the committee keeps the option of selecting the county clerk or board chairman to be the chief executive.

votes in their schools on the proposed ban.

The students also drew some adult support for their views.

Hugh Carpenter of West Bend, president of the Wisconsin Juvenile Officers Association, said a driving ban would be "a great detriment" to the desirable programs of youth.

Support also came from Adolph Deering, 72, former assemblyman from Green Bay. He said there is great support in rural areas to let the children drive to their activities.

Let the law as it is, he said. "If they get into any mischief, then give them the works." He suggested that someone sponsor a bill to close the beer taverns.

Farmer Well Prepared For Gasoline Thieves

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Oren Thompson summoned the sheriff to his farm home to apprehend thieves who had filched gasoline from his tractor fuel tanks.

They'll be somewhere nearby, he assured Sheriff Hugh Campbell Monday night.

Sure enough, down the road about a mile, Campbell came upon four youths in an auto stalled with four flat tires and a tank labeled "gasoline."

The youths were charged with petty larceny.

than the one given by union sources shortly after the early-morning break-up of the negotiations.

At that time the word had been that "a little progress was made" but "we are a long way from agreement."

The Western situation and technical language on a non-reprisals pact were mentioned in that connection.

The issue immediately involved is that of a return to work and final settlement of the dispute that caused the walkout.

The walkout started last Friday and reached monumental proportions this week. The engineers are protesting a ruling by the National Mediation Board that engineers and pilots at United Airlines must be represented by one union.

The pressure was taking these forms:

- Five major airlines, joined at times by a sixth, told the strikers Wednesday night that if they "have not reported their availability for service" by noon today the carriers would withdraw their no-reprisals assurances.
- Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said after a meeting with the officials of the six lines Wednesday that "there is no reason or justification to continue the walkout."
- George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, joined Kennedy in appealing to the strikers to return.
- The optimistic note was sounded by panel chairman Nathan Feinsinger. After his group assembled Wednesday, he said it was proceeding "on the assumption that there will be a resumption of passenger service tomorrow."
- He qualified his perception of had been laying for gasoline thieves. He set a trap by placing a plank driven full of spikes in a driveway near the tanks, and switching gasoline to a tank labeled "fuel oil" and fuel oil to a tank labeled "gasoline."

The youths were charged with petty larceny.

a rainbow by saying "a feeling of optimism" is a prerequisite to the type of work the panel was engaged in.

Threat of Reprisals

The airlines issued their threat after a conference arranged by the government in an effort to end the strike. Goldberg said the struck Western Airlines had refused to make the same assurances of no reprisals if the men got back to work at once.

This refusal was one of the factors that held up a vote by the flight engineers on Kennedy's appeal.

The Flight Engineers International Association at first said it would poll its members. Later, the union announced that the vote was delayed because many of its officers were tied up in litigation started by the airlines and because of Western's position.

Changes Position

Joining in the threat were Pan American, American, Trans World, Eastern and National. Flying Tiger, a cargo carrier, changed its position several times. The last word from its Burbank, Calif., headquarters was that the line had agreed to hold off a few hours on a plan to replace 85 striking engineers with pilots.

A company spokesman said the latest decision was the result of a telephone conversation between Goldberg and Frank B. Lynott, executive vice president of Flying Tiger.

Flight engineers, now separately organized, interpreted the NLRB ruling to mean they all will be forced into a union with the three times more numerous pilots and will be outnumbered. Goldberg has tried to assure the engineers that the NLRB decision applies only to United, which, ironically, has not been hit by the strike.

West Virginia Girl Wins Cherry Pie Test

CHICAGO (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Sherry Anne Shirley of Bunker Hill, W. Va., was the last of 50 contestants to pop her pie into the oven Wednesday but she won the 1961 national cherry pie baking championship.

Patricia VanTreeck of Route 3, Sheboygan Falls, Wis., did not place among the top winners.

Miss Shirley spent a full hour draining the frozen cherries and fretted nervously while putting the finishing culinary touches to her entry before closing the oven door.

Moslems in Algeria End Servile Silence

Spit at Feet of Europeans; Find New Strength in 6-Year Guerrilla Fight

ALGIERS (AP) — In an Algerian schoolyard, a 12-year-old Moslem boy pointed a pocket knife at a French first grader. "Shout long live the Algerian republic," the Moslem boy told him. The French boy, 6, stared, bewildered. The short blade penetrated three layers of his winter clothing and stopped on his belt. The first grader's father took up the incident with the principal. "All I can tell you is to transfer your boy to a private school," the principal said. "Any move on my part would be interpreted as directed against the Moslems. It could start rioting."

Servile Silence

The dam which held Algeria's North African masses in servile silence before the will of the caused any general panic among the French settlers, who are accustomed to coping with terrorism and violence. But most are grimly reconciled to the idea of "packing the suitcase" sooner or later. "If the army leaves—we leave," they say.

Uncertain of the future, the Europeans have drastically reduced their spending and have begun to transfer savings and capital to Europe.

This has struck virtually all branches of economy, particularly affecting shopkeepers selling appliances and luxury goods.

In the last three months of 1960, Algiers jewelry shops earned less than one third of the volume for the corresponding period in 1959.

Banks have stopped credit facilities for second-hand cars. The result—few people can buy new automobiles without trade-in possibilities. Car salesmen reported they have been doing one-tenth of their normal business.

Algiers, not so long ago a bustling war boom city, has taken on an atmosphere of a city waiting for disaster to strike.

Union Charge Brought Against Appleton Firm

A charge of unfair labor practices has been filed against the Reinhardt Sabee Co., 1850 W. Highland Ave., by the Teamsters Union.

The union contends the firm is interfering with its employees' rights to organize a union at the plant. Sabee employees are not unionized now.

Union officials first filed a petition with the National Labor Relations Board asking for a representation election to find out how many employees wanted the union.

But the petition was withdrawn and the charge of unfair practices filed.

The case will go before an NLRB trial examiner, who will try to determine if the Sabee company is in violation of the National Labor-Management Relations Act.

His opinion will be reviewed by the NLRB, which will decide if the law has been violated.

'Second Best' for Appleton?—I

The Post-Crescent believes that Appleton, or any of the Fox Cities, should never have to settle for second best in municipal facilities or services.

We strongly disagree with Mayor Clarence Mitchell and Ald. Alvin Tews that Appleton should "be prepared to settle for second best" in its capital improvements program.

The two city officials made that statement last week while appearing before the Edison School Parent-Teachers association as members of a panel discussing long-range school plans.

Considering the dynamic growth of this area and the aggressiveness of its industrial and business leaders, this community should never be satisfied with anything but the best for its people.

And this best need not be a terrific strain on the taxpayers if a capital improvements program is carried out wisely and with good fiscal sense.

The cry of Mayor Mitchell and Ald. Tews is that the proposed $15 million in capital spending can't be done in five years. That may be true, but what is the matter with a seven or eight or 10-year program, providing the best for Appleton?

Ald. Tews told the Board of Public Works that the $15 million program must be cut by $8 million.

We believe he is wrong in his approach to this problem. A capital improvements plan should not be treated like an annual budget that is cut down to size. If a project can't be carried out in a certain year it should be shifted to another year, but not deleted.

Also, we don't think the method of financing should have any bearing on what is included in the plan. Mayor Mitchell suggested to the board that several items be deleted and labeled budget items, and this was done. To our way of thinking a capital improvements plan sets up a schedule of priorities for what appears to be needed, giving first place to what is needed most.

Going on the supposition that the proposed $15 million program be carried out in five to 10 years, here are some relevant, interesting computations.

The city's assessed valuation, one factor in determining taxes, is now $124,465,700. During the past decade it has increased by an average of $5,520,000 a year. This means that if the present trend continues the assessed valuation by 1965 will be about $152,065,700 and in 1970, $179,665,700.

City Assessor Pierre assesses property at from 50 to 55 per cent of true market value. Consequently the state equalized value in the past has been slightly more than double the assessed valuation. The 1960 equalized value was $259,714,500. On the basis of the estimated assessed valuations made above, the equalized value in 1965 should be about $305,000,000, and in 1970, about $359,330,000.

The city's debt limit, set by state law, is 8 per cent of equalized value. The 1960 limit was $20,777,160. Based on the estimated equalized valuations, the 1965 limit would be about $24,400,000, and the 1970 limit $28,746,000.

Considering the increases in valuations and new taxable property brought into the city through anticipated annexations it is not unreasonable to believe that a $15 million program could be undertaken without excessively burdening taxpayers.

Also, the city's portion of state shared revenues, such as the state income tax, liquor and vehicle license taxes, has been going up every year.

The city's debt at the end of 1960 was $10,709,560, or 51.5 per cent of the statutory limit. A Dec. 31, 1960 debt statement prepared by City Clerk Eldon Broehm shows that $4,109,560 of that amount will be paid by 1965, and $7,169,560 by 1970, leaving balances of $6,600,000 and $3,540,000 respectively.

Therefore, if a $15 million improvements program were carried out in five years it is likely the city's debt then would be about $21,600,000, or 87.5 per cent of the estimated limit at that time. If done in 10 years, the debt would be $18,540,000, or 64.3 per cent of the estimated limit for that year.

We agree that being in debt to the tune of 87.5 per cent of the limit is quite different from today's 51.5. But the 64.3 per cent of 1970 is not nearly as bad.

Progress does not stand still. You get nothing for nothing. This is as true in city development as it is in business and industry. City improvements benefit every taxpayer — private, business and industrial — just as the city and every private taxpayer benefits from business and industrial improvements. We are all dependent on each other, and should be equally anxious to see our city grow and progress.

truth to be faced is how poorly present members have carried out these obligations or made even a bare attempt.

Russia has never had the aims of faith in fundamental human rights or the dignity and worth of the human person as revealed in the thousands who linger in prisons and the bold traffic in people which the Soviet Union employs in attempting to influence the rest of the world. The imprisonment and subsequent release of the two American flyers, Captains McKone and Olmstead, are examples.

Russia does not recognize treaty obligations, even those it assumed under the United Nations. The Charter expressly states that "all Members . . . undertake to make available to the Security Council on its call . . . armed forces, assistance and facilities . . . Members shall hold immediately available national air force contingents for combined international enforcement action. The strength and degree of readiness . . . and plans for their combined action shall be determined . . . by the Security Council with the assistance of the Military Staff Committee." Russia refuses to contribute men or money to the U.N. Emergency Force patrolling the Gaza strip or to the troops in the Congo.

Another obligation, more recently broken, is that "each member . . . undertakes to respect the exclusively international character of the responsibilities of the Secretary-General and the staff and not to seek to influence them in the discharge of their responsibilities."

The crushing of Hungary was the most flagrant of the Russian violations in that it crossed a national border and closed the entrances to the U.N. But it is not at all the only way in which the principles of settling international disputes for justice, peace and security have been breached by the Soviet. In the Congo it has obviously given and encouraged support of regimes against which the U.N. was employing restraining measures. It pays not a penny to the support of several U.N. committees and programs. Its membership is obviously an attempt to make use of the U.N. for the extension of the power and expansion of the tenets of Communism.

So far there has been no effort in the U.N. to enforce its treaty obligations or membership requirements.

Goodness Never Dies, Neither Will Dr. Dooley and His Work

From The Cleveland Plain Dealer

It is difficult for mere mortals to understand the workings of the cosmic scheme which permits useless and sometimes thoroughly despicable persons to live to a ripe old age, while denying a full life to other men who have served humanity devotedly and with complete dedication.

Perhaps Providence is proving that mere years do not matter—that the important thing is to demonstrate to the world that goodness and mercy, even in capsule form, live on long after death claims those who have shown these rare and shining qualities.

Certainly, Dr. Thomas Dooley, dead of cancer one day after his 34th birthday, could not have made a greater impression on a careless and thoughtless world if he had lived to be as old as Methuselah. He could not have demonstrated any more completely that man can rise above dreadful pain, and still keep his eye on his humanitarian goal, if he had lived a long life.

It is not necessary to recall how this young man, then a naval lieutenant, became touched by the plight of refugees from Communist North Viet Nam in 1954, at the end of the war in Indochina, and how he decided that after he left the Navy he would do something to help these pitiful souls: everyone knows the heroic and touching story.

Nor is it necessary to go at length into how, out of the Navy in 1956, Dr. Dooley used the proceeds of his book, "Deliver Us From Evil," and supplies donated by pharmaceutical houses, to go to Laos with three former Navy buddies and set up a small hospital at Nam Tha.

The world remembers how he founded "Medico" and raised money for his hospital work by writing another best seller, The Edge of Tomorrow, and by lecturing. Another hospital — with only mats for beds — was set up at Muong Sing, and soon was handling 100 patients a day.

In 1959 Dr. Dooley underwent surgery for chest cancer, and was discharged as apparently cured. He returned to his work in Laos, and somehow found time to write "The Night They Burned the Mountain," rights to which have been sold to a motion picture firm. But cancer struck again, and on last Dec. 27, Dr. Dooley re-entered a New York hospital.

We like to remember what Dr. Dooley said one day in Cleveland, when his face was white from pain: "I don't count. Whatever happens to me is not important. It is the cause itself, Medico, the people out there in that part of the world, and elsewhere, who count, who need help, who need to be made a part of the modern world with its facilities for improving their lot and their bodies. They should not be forgotten."

Dr. Dooley is dead, in the physical sense, but his work will go on. It must go on. It is unthinkable that such devotion and courage as he showed should have failed to produce disciples. Indeed, as we ponder the seeming injustice of it all, we are reminded suddenly of another young man who died at an early age nearly 2,000 years ago, but whose love and concern for humanity exists to this very day.

In the sense that goodness never dies, neither will Dr. Dooley.

'Americans' Deserve to be Deported

From The South Coast, Calif., News

There is forever a group of alleged Americans disposed to undermine the Constitution, to weaken this nation as a Republic.

There is now on foot a movement to influence Congress to disband the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The Committee should be strengthened rather than disbanded.

It should be given authority to combat that subversive scum which hides behind the 5th Amendment to the Constitution.

We look not with mere suspicion but with disdain on individuals and groups who call themselves by high sounding names, but by their actions deserve only to be deported to Russia.

Motor Answers Crescent Query

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 23, 1861, and the Appleton Motor for Feb. 28, 1861.

Republicans, Answer! Which do you consider of greatest importance to the peace, prosperity and happiness of the people—present and prospective — this Government with its slavery institutions entailed or the Chicago platform?

As you cannot make equals of the Negro race, why not mind your own business and let the Slave States mind theirs? Appleton Crescent.

Political information is evidently at an exchange rate of distress with our neighbor. As one of the "Republicans," let us briefly "answer."

First—The Chicago platform is the government—or rather it will be on Monday next: and it is the burden duty of the American people, Democrats as well as Republicans, including the editor of the Crescent, to render a cheerful obedience to the Government, and submit willingly to every syllable of its Constitutional laws. We repeat it: the Chicago Platform is the Government, and will be obeyed and enforced as such; and the editor of the Crescent and all other Secession fraternizers will toe mark of that obedience.

Second—Of course, we "cannot make equals of the Negro race," because God made, and makes, and will forever make every man, of whatever race, equal in his right. We intend to mind our own business and let the Slave States mind theirs. And in case any of them happen to neglect to "mind" theirs, it will be minded for them.—Appleton Motor.

Departments Mute on How to Raise Money

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The chairman of the Republican - controlled legislative finance committee is on record as believing his group can wring $10 millions in "water" from Gov. Nelson's record high budget of proposed state expenditures for the next two years.

Wyngaard

This is the kind of publicity campaigning that is inevitable under the political division that prevails in the state government at a time when virtually the only popular issue before the legislature is the issue of raising taxes and financing the anxious parade of high spending requests.

It may be guessed that Sen. Draheim, when he issued his press release to coincide with Nelson's tax message to the legislature, chose a nice round and impressive figure for public consumption.

But it also is worth noting that the first sessions of his committee have shown an unusual resolution to hold down the new spending proposals. If the attitude of this committee continues, many of the department officers are going to be disappointed indeed when they see the revised budget measure that will emerge from the committee's chambers six weeks hence.

SILENCE

The men and women who are parading before Draheim's committee these days are expert pleaders, with years of practice.

Most of them are eloquent and convincing, if the listener regards what they are saying without reference to the fiscal climate in which they appear.

Considered separately, these are small requests. Standing alone they appear almost insignificant against the total state expenditure commitment — almost too small to make examination or criticism worth while.

But put together they account for a large part of the huge deficit that impends in the state treasury, and a large part of the cause for the stiffest boost in general taxation this state has contemplated since the depression era more than a quarter of a century ago.

The on-looker is also struck by the fact that the most inventive and ingenious and persuasive of the pleaders are struck speechless whenever the question of revenue policy is broached. The most powerful pressure groups for higher budgets, as that which is now being mobilized on behalf of the University of Wisconsin, stand mute before the issue of tax adjustment.

LOGIC

Yet it must be perfectly evident to these men, most of them of high intelligence and rich experience, that the state cannot indefinitely expand its expenditure commitments without doing something about broadening the tax base. It must be obvious that a tax scheme that was adequate for the primitive budgets of a quarter of a century ago will strain and groan under the mountainous demands of 1961.

The expenditure projections of the welfare and educational administrators — the elementary and secondary schools as well as the state colleges and the universities—are breath - taking in their implications for tax needs for the next couple of decades. That is why some of the highest officers of the university are spending as much time on the stump these days as at their desks.

These and many other men within the system know the inevitability of radical tax adjustment as well as any politicians on the firing line.

But like those politicians, they don't want to face it. They don't even want to talk about it. In private conversations they are candid. In public discussions they are evasive to the point of absurdity.

All of which is a refutation of the idea of democratic responsibility—the notion that if the people are given the truth and understand the issue, they will arrive at sound conclusions.

China Girds For War as People Starve

From The New York World Telegram

The Communist regime in Peiping would like nothing better than to wipe out the Chiang Kai-shek government on Formosa. Yet President Chiang has initiated a drive to collect "$1 per man" among the millions on Formosa and elsewhere overseas to help alleviate the severe food shortages that affect the oppressed people of mainland China.

But indications are Red China will refuse the aid.

There are even more bitter ironies in this situation. United States officials report authoritatively that Red China, in the face of famine at home, has shipped more than 100,000 tons of rice to Cuba, 15,000 tons to Guinea in Africa and the equivalent of some $20 million in foodstuffs to Ceylon.

In return for the exports, mainly rice, to Ceylon, the Peiping regime is getting back Ceylonese rubber—which starving people can't eat. But rubber is certainly an ingredient in any stockpiling for war.

The only conclusion is that the Communist state would willingly starve its people to build its machine of threatening aggression.

A further curious insight is that Soviet Russia is not called on for aid in Red China's serious domestic predicament. Is it because even more food exports are going to Russia in exchange for still more hardware?

These are some considerations that ought to be brought to the foreground in the event there is any further talk of trying to send American surplus foods to Red China—to be disposed of as the Communist state sees fit.

Caricaturists Need Practice With JFK

From The Brookings, S.D., Register

These cartoonists who aspire to be caricaturists are not doing well with President Kennedy. In fact, somewhat grotesque and mean. They should get hold of a volume or two of Jay N. ("Ding") Darling's famous Des Moines Register cartoonist, long retired. He could emphasize any feature without destroying the likeness and do it kindly. But these drawings of Kennedy's teeth are nothing short of ridiculous.

Keep Youths In School

From The Progressive Farmer

During the next decade, 26 million youngfolks will enter the labor force. But 7½ million will have left school without a high school diploma. 2½ million without having completed the eighth grade. They will be handicapped the balance of their lives.

For his sake, encourage your youngster to stay in a school—finish high school, get additional training if at all possible. He stands to lose most by quitting.

There are fewer and fewer jobs for the untrained. Machines are replacing these unskilled people; their pay is lowest. Workers are easily replaced because they have no training. The unskilled laborer is first to lose his job and the last to get another.

For the sake of the country, encourage your boy and girl to stay in school, for educated, trained Americans build a stronger, more productive America.

From The New York Herald Tribune

There is a certain compulsive fascination in following the temperature readings these days. For whereas one customarily looks at the outdoor thermometer in the morning to determine what manner of clothing to wear, in recent weeks one has instead sought enlightenment on whether to go out at all.

Later Deadline For Indians Seems Unlikely

Senate Committee Seeking End to Menominee Matter

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee which handles Indian legislation has told Wisconsin senators he is "not very optimistic" about extending the termination date of federal control over the Menominee Indians beyond the present April 30 deadline.

In a letter to Sens. Alexander Wiley and William Proxmire, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, R-N.M., said, "I think the legislation passed last session (on the Menominees), the hearings and the committee reports all show we want to wind up this matter as promptly as possible."

Anderson, who was reluctant to approve a measure last year extending the termination deadline for the Menominees said, however, he has referred two bills introduced by Wiley and Proxmire to the Department of the Interior.

These two bills, which previously were introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Marshfield) would let Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall set the date for termination and establish a national charter for the tribe for an eight-year period. This charter would permit the Menominees to be eligible for participation in a capital loan program and other federal programs for Indians.

Little Opposition Seen

There is no indication how soon the Department of the Interior will forward a report to Congress on these two bills.

Laird said that members of the House Corresponding Committee which had been approved pre-handling Indian affairs assured him that his two bills would be approved. Very little opposition is expected in committee, he said.

However, in view of Sen. Anderson's apparent opposition to the measures, committee members believe they should postpone hearings until the Senate takes action. Laird pointed out in an interview that the whole plan for or-

Lawrence to Send Delegates To Midwest College Meeting

Four-Day Conference in Racine To Deal With Secretary of State

Six Lawrence College students and one faculty member will take part in a four-day conference on "The Secretary of State" at Wingspread, Racine, starting March 2.

They will attend the second in a series of assemblies on national and international affairs for the Associated Colleges of the Midwest, using a formula established by The American Assembly of Columbia University. The first program, held last spring at Green Lake with Lawrence and session (on the Menominees), the Johnson Foundation as the sponsoring groups, dealt with Africa and the problems of emerging nations.

The host school for this meeting is Ripon College, with President Fred O. Pankham serving as conference chairman. The Johnson Foundation and The American Assembly again are co-sponsors.

Lawrence Delegates

Lawrentians to attend are Professor Vernon Roelofs of the history department, one of the discussion leaders, and students Janvin R. Laird (R-Marshfield) Jr., Madison; Thomas Fulda, Columbus, Ohio; Elichi Furukawa, Tokyo, Japan; George McKann, Evanston, Ill., and Alexander Wilde, Wauwatosa. Furukawa is a trainee in the Japanese foreign service program.

Speakers at the conference will include John W. Hanes Jr., former assistant secretary of state and one-time special assistant to the late John Foster Dulles, and Dr. Clifford Marshall of the Washington Center of Foreign Policy Research. Also representing the Department of State as a special consultant will be Thomas W. M. Smith, former second secretary at the American embassy in Tunis.

derly termination for the tribe, which had been approved previously, was predicated on a timber cut of 27 million board feet. Such a cut, Laird said, is "unrealistic in 1961."

He added: "Without the revenues anticipated from the larger timber cut the Menominee tribe would be in very dire circumstances. Action by Congress is needed now to meet and postpone the April 30 deadline."

the secretary of state, describing and evaluating the complex roles and relationships in the office.

A final report of the conference discussions will be prepared by an editor, Charles Foster of the Cornell College political science department, with the assistance of the three discussion leaders, Dr. Roelofs, Dr. Paul Smith of Grinnell, and Dr. Richard Spencer, Coe.

Preparation

Each of the ten colleges of the Associated Colleges of the Midwest — Beloit, Carleton, Coe, Cornell, Grinnell, Knox, Lawrence, Monmouth, Ripon and St. Olaf — will send six students to the Assembly. Students will prepare for the conference by reading an American Assembly text on the secretary of state and holding discussions on their own campuses.

The text examines the office of my.

Accumulation of an Inch Expected When Rain Stops, Mercury Drops

Garden tools and high hopes of an early spring must be put aside today in the face of a new blast of winter in the Fox Cities. The weatherman is adding snow and cold weather to the fog, rain and slush now settled here. Rain is to turn to snow as temperatures drop tonight. An accumulation of up to one inch is expected. The northwest corner of the state is expected to have one to three inches of new snow by nightfall today.

Heavy Rain
Some 43 of an inch of rain fell from about 7 p.m. Wednesday until early today. It was misting throughout the night. Fog is being carried into the valley by a sluggish breeze blowing off Lake Michigan.

Heavy rain in the Clintonville area was a contributing factor to a cave-in of a basement wall at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Johnson, 189 Roberts St. The entire basement of the home was flooded during the downpour. A freezer and automatic washer and dryer were pushed across the basement as the wall crumbled. Sand bags were placed around the house and pumps got the water out.

Poor visibility because of the fog hampered firemen fighting a fire at the Gerald Van Asten farm, route 3, Hollandtown, on County Trunk Q about 4 a.m. today. Fog delayed water trucks coming from a nearby dairy.

Frost Report
A sidelight on weather: Wisconsin received its first comprehensive frost depth report this year because of cooperation of cemetery officials and funeral directors, the Wisconsin Crop Reporting Service says. "The reports are especially valuable because of their experience and accuracy in observing frost penetration," the service said.

Frost depth in the Fox Cities area and northeastern Wisconsin ranges from 3.5 to 4 feet. In areas where snow cover exists, such as Iron County, there are but four inches of frost under 18 inches of snow.

New Problems
The soggy southland braced itself today for its seventh straight day of rainy weather. Flooding from overloaded streams created new problems for some areas where water already is several feet high in city streets.

Property damage from high water and tornadoes continued to mount and the number of deaths rose to five early today when two children drowned as a boat evacuating them from a flooded area in Mississippi, capsized. Hardest hit states are Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia.

Plan Program for Reserving Kaukauna Park Facilities

KAUKAUNA—The health and recreation committee of the Common Council will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday to discuss a shelter for Riverside Park and the location of picnics, sponsored by organizations, according to George Simon, chairman.

Money has been set up in the 1960 budget for a park shelter, similar to one installed at LaFollette Park last year. The committee will also study a way of setting up reservations by clubs and organizations for use of the shelter.

Numerous complaints about noise caused by organization picnics which include rides and concessions for an extended period have been received by the committee. The committee also will consider the problem of dirt and debris left in parks after these picnics.

Some aldermen have suggested use of the Dodge Street athletic field area for all future picnics, as it is removed from the heavily populated residential areas and is well suited for such events. Adequate parking facilities are available there.

Man Injured When Milk Truck Overturns

A rural Hilbert man received bumps and bruises at 9 a.m. Wednesday when the milk truck he was driving went out of control and rolled over on State 45 two miles east of Hortonville.

Ralph C. Probst, 24, route 2, Hilbert, was westbound on 45 when he left the road on a curve. The truck traveled through a ditch and rolled over against a tree, landing on its wheels. The rear wheels were torn loose. The truck is owned by the Thiel Milk Products Co., St. John.

Letters have been set to 6,000 Neenah residents asking support for the Red Cross and its fund drive. The goal is $14,000, the same as 1960.

The biggest individual slice of this, $5,300, goes to the national Red Cross for its national disaster work.

The Neenah chapter also underwrites the cost of the blood program in Neenah which includes the share at the Badger Regional Blood Center in Madison and the food expense for donors while the bloodmobile unit is here. The 1961 budget for this program is $1,725.

Other functions of the Neenah chapter include a water safety program, for which $550 has been allotted. This includes a portion of the expense for running the Neenah swimming pool and part of the salaries of instructors.

Tells Mayor Klein It Lacks Authority Because Written Complaint Hasn't Been Made

MENASHA — The Menasha Police and Fire Commission Wednesday night declined to suspend Police Chief Peter P. Clark.

Commission Secretary Richard O'Brien moved that he inform Mayor John Klein by letter that the commission has not received any written complaint and therefore is without authority to suspend Clark.

Mayor Klein Wednesday asked the commission to suspend Clark pending investigation of matters discussed Tuesday night by members of the police pension board before the city council in a committee meeting prior to the official council session.

City Atty. Richard J. Steffens Wednesday night said he had informed two police and fire commissioners that they themselves could act to suspend the chief of police under present statutes, without written charges being presented. He said he believed the commission is attempting to delay action against Clark.

Wollwage Elected Officer of Paper Association

Dr. John C. Wollwage, Appleton, general manager of manufacturing process at Kimberly-Clark Corp., was elected vice president of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry at the annual business meeting Monday.

Other new officers are Harold M. Annis, Oxford Paper Co., New York, president, and executive committee members William H. Aiken, Union Bag-Camp Paper Corp., New York; Paul W. Bartholomew, Minnesota and Ontario Paper Co., International Falls, Minn.; Glenn C. Kimble, Union Bag-Camp Paper Corp., Savannah, Ga.; and W. P. Lawrence, Champion Paper and Fibre Co., Hamilton, Ohio.

Wollwage has been a TAPPI local section chairman, division chairman and member of the executive committee.

In his letter requesting Clark's suspension, Mayor Klein recounted the Tuesday session of the council and pension board, in which the latter group told why it adopted a resolution Jan. 19 to retire Clark as of March 1.

"The pension board members (except Clark) answered all questions asked. The chief of police was asked questions repeatedly but refused to answer. I did not realize the magnitude of the disension within the police department. The statements made shocked me," Klein's letter stated.

Chief Clark called the complaints made Tuesday night "unfounded."

Youths Sentenced For Gasoline Thefts

Pair Also Took Money From Trailer

Two 19-year-old Appleton youths were sentenced today by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieg on a total of 12 counts of breaking and entering, theft and gasoline theft.

Richard Underwood, 19, 1918 N. Charlotte St., was sentenced to six months in Outagamie County jail and one to two years in the state reformatory at Green Bay. The Green Bay sentence was withheld and he was placed on two years probation. Underwood also must make $50 restitution for money he took and pay for half of the gasoline he stole.

Terry Besaw, 19, 930 W. Brewster St., was placed on three years probation to the state department of public welfare. He received a 30-day sentence on several of the counts, but the sentences were to run concurrently with the time he has already served while awaiting sentencing.

Took Money From Trailer
Besaw also must make restitution for the gas theft and for the theft of money from a trailer.

Besaw and Underwood were found guilty of breaking into a house trailer owned by Eric Erdman, 4028 W. Capitol Drive, and stealing $62. Erdman said $100 was taken.

They also were charged with taking 20 gallons of gasoline from Lawrence Koepke, Koepke Quarry, County Trunk C, and 20 gallons from the Pfeiffer Brothers Construction Co., and with attempted theft of gasoline from two farms on route 3, Appleton.

Underwood also admitted taking 25 gallons of gasoline from the Berg and Henn farm, route 1, Appleton, and 10 gallons of gasoline from Appleton Manufacturing Co.

County Officials Find Way to Do Private Work

Ozaukee County case the state supreme court ruled that the use of public crews for private road improvements was unconstitutional. This year a revised version of the proposal is before the legislature, with predictions that it is likely to be enacted.

Legalize Work

Such private driveway work would be legalized, to the extent that driveways must be adjusted or repaired to accommodate winter snow plow services offered by the towns and counties.

Such improvement contracts would be limited to $300 each, and thus substantial jobs of the private contractors would be eliminated.

The enabling legislation is backed by the Wisconsin Towns Association and the Wisconsin County Boards Association.

The sponsors argue that snow removal work is necessary for the public protection and welfare, and that repairs or construction on private drives and roads that is required to provide ingress or egress for snow removal equipment during the winter season is a legitimate activity of the road departments.

New Police Station Cost $200,684

NEENAH — Final accounting showed the new Neenah police station cost a total of $200,684.68, Mayor Chester S. Bell said this morning. This includes $3,926.87 in architectural fees paid before the issuance of the $200,000 bonds in September 1959.

As a result, Mayor Bell said, there still is $3,242.19 left from the original bond issue. This money probably will be used for bond retirement, the mayor added.

Actual general construction costs amounted to $181,345.81. Additional architectural fees paid out of the bond issue totaled $11,391.26.

Neenah residents originally rejected a $270,000 bond issue in April 1959. Several bids were later rejected as being too high after the September bond issue was approved.

Weyauwega Man Killed At Quarry

Loaded Lime Truck Tips; Crushes Arthur Pagel, 58

NEW LONDON — Arthur Pagel, 58, route 2, Weyauwega, was killed Wednesday afternoon, when a truck loaded with lime ran over him at the C. H. Peters lime quarry, two miles north of Readfield, on County Trunk W.

Pagel was standing at the back of the truck while it was being loaded with lime. When the truck started to roll down a grade, he tried to get into the cab of the truck, but the truck struck a pile of lime and tipped over.

When other workmen arrived on the scene, they saw Pagel crawl from under the truck and stand up. He then collapsed. When asked if he were hurt, he replied, he thought he had a broken leg. He died 20 minutes later.

Wheels Over Pelvis

Pagel was pronounced dead by Waupaca County Deputy Coroner, Dr. John Monsted. He said the rear wheels of the truck ran over Pagel's pelvis.

Pagel worked for the C. H. Peters Construction Co. for 38 years. He was born July 14, 1902, in the Town of Bloomfield, Waushara County. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Bauer Funeral Home, Fremont, with the Rev. Raymond Barz, pastor of Hope United Church of Christ, Fremont, in charge. true, but that will be ironed out in court." He said he declined to answer questions on the advice of his attorneys.

Clark Wednesday secured a temporary injunction restraining the pension board from retiring him. The pension board must appear in Winnebago County Circuit Court in Oshkosh at 10 a.m. March 22 to show cause why the court should not prevent Clark's enforced retirement.

Mayor Klein today said he will write the city attorney asking his ruling on the constitutionality of the police pension board's action, and will instruct the attorney to proceed with the necessary legal steps in the city's defense of the board's enforced retirement of Clark.

Chief Clark's injunction action contends the retirement resolution, passed Jan. 19, is in violation of his rights, and is done without authority.

Named as defendants in the injunctive action are the mayor, who acted as pension board president; City Clerk Harry Kind, secretary; City Treasurer Frank Beck, treasurer; and Patrolmen William Ciske, David Kolasinski, and Charles Evans, elected last month to the pension board by fellow members of the police department.

The vote to retire Clark was 5-1, with Clark casting the only dissent. Klein did not vote because there was no tie.

Around Home

A Kaukauna store, acting as the result of a Post-Crescent article, brought back Christmas for a young Kaukauna fire victim. Seven-year-old Patty Milbach, who with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Milbach lost all possessions in the Jan. 21 downtown Kaukauna fire, missed her Chatty Kathy doll, a Christmas gift, most of all. Nothing could replace this doll, the Post-Crescent said, and the youngster even refused any others offered by the Red Cross. A Kaukauna store recently got another Chatty Kathy doll for her, and Patty Milbach is a very happy little girl.

A lonely bat made one Lenten service in Appleton unique last night.

About 400 churchgoers were quietly watching a movie in the darkened First Methodist Church when the inquisitive bat suddenly swooped toward the beam of light on the screen.

There was no panic, no noise, but plenty of group pantomime. Each time the bat winged low into the light about four rows of people in the front of the church disappeared from sight. Then as the animal banked high in the auditorium, heads came back up. Down went a new set of duck-ers as Mr. Bat changed his flying pattern.

Thus went the silent pantomime until the movie ended. When the lights were turned on, Mr. Bat disappeared, perhaps to his belfry.

Foot Soldier Still Backbone Of Any Army

Mobility Stressed By General at Ground Breaking

OSHKOSH — Mobility and flexibility are the key factors in today's army, and the foot soldier still is the important man determining the outcome of any warfare, Major Gen. Herbert A. Smith, 32nd Division commanding general, said at a luncheon Wednesday.

He discussed his observation of NATO maneuvers in Germany from Jan. 30 to Feb. 8 after a ground breaking ceremony for the new $250,000 National Guard armory.

Despite mechanization and all the fancy equipment, which are important, in the final analysis the thing that counts and determines the outcome is the foot soldier. "He has to be better trained and more alert than before."

'Keep Mobile'
"Mobility and flexibility are the only things to keep you alive on an atomic battlefield," the general repeated. This requires considerable ingenuity and planning to keep communications going and to keep supplied with ammunition and fuel.

"Where does the National Guard fit in?" he asked. It has an important role in the one-army concept of regular army, national guard and reservist all working together. "We have been preaching that idea for years." Some generals do not agree with that view, he added.

He commended the 6-months active duty training program for National Guard members. "This makes us able to stand up behind the regular army. The 32nd Division is rated as one of the top six in the country for getting equipment and for strength. We will maintain our progress and be right up there," Gen. Smith concluded.

Fund Officials Set Meeting

Red Cross Unit To See Film at Menasha Elks Club

MENASHA — Red Cross fund drive officials and personnel will meet at Menasha Elks Club at 1:30 p.m. Monday for a kick-off meeting. Perry Kimmel, fund drive chairman, announced today.

A film on the blood program from the Madison Center and a talk by Dr. Robert Schwab of Theda Clark Hospital, will be part of the worker's orientation program. Instruction also will be provided by a series of skits presented by Red Cross officials. Solicitors will be given their kits.

Beginning March 1, there will be a house to house canvass of all homes in Menasha, to raise $2,400 of the $10,000 fund drive goal. There will be no mill solicitation in Menasha and workers outside the city have been asked to give their contributions at home.

Mrs. William Ebert and Mrs. Dan Arft, neighborhood chairmen, will be on hand to welcome all solicitors. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Mayor Will Speak On Parking Situation At Merchants' Meeting

Mayor Clarence Mitchell will speak on the Appleton parking situation at the monthly Downtown Retail Association coffee hour at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at Conway Hotel. Giles Flanagan, Chamber of Commerce assistant secretary, said today.

Season Just Ended, but Debaters Already Take Notes for Next Year

NEENAH — The Neenah High School debating team has little rest. It just completed its season, but already it is taking notes for next year's tournaments.

Anyone watching a debate tournament may wonder at the detailed knowledge the students have of their subject. This is not an accident.

Many Notes

But, to let Rita Buck, an affirmative debater at Neenah High for three years, tell it: "I start keeping notes during the summer and, by the time tournaments start, I have so many notes they're coming out of my ears."

Actual detailed preparation for the debates starts early in October when William Dunwiddie, Neenah High debate coach since 1949, calls the candidates together. By this time the specific subject has been selected.

"We discuss what are likely to be the basic issues and what are the best sources of information," Dunwiddie said.

Own Research

This early start is possible because the general subject for the next debate season is selected during the previous winter. The specific question is then determined early in the fall.

This last year the national question was "Resolved: That the United Nations should be significantly strengthened."

Several fall sessions are held to discuss the major points of both the negative and affirmative sides. "I don't tell them what to use," Dunwiddie commented. "If they want to profit from debate they must do their own debating and research."

Set Pairings

After this initial phase the debaters are paired off, usually on the basis of experience and the student's own choice.

A year ago Rita Buck, a senior, and Jim Hedlund, a junior, were paired on the affirmative team and went to the state tournament. This last year Rita was paired with Betsy Billings, senior, on the affirmative side while Jim teamed up with Bill Shockley, a junior, on the negative side.

Which is harder to debate, the negative or affirmative side? "They're both hard," Rita said. "but the affirmative must prove something and the negative can just try to knock it down."

Shockley disagreed, saying the negative debaters had more planning to do because of the many affirmative plans that could be offered.

Hedlund said that early in the year the affirmative teams have the advantage but that this lessens as the year goes by. Jim added they keep scouting reports on other teams to see what arguments the other debaters use.

Rita plans to continue in debate next year at college. "No one can shut me up," she quipped.

Suspends Probation, Jails Two Rivers Man

OSHKOSH — Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane this morning revoked a one-year probation for John Peterman, 28, Two Rivers, and sentenced him to six months in the Winnebago County Jail.

Women Volunteers to Aid Heart Fund Drive Sunday

KAUKAUNA — Women volunteers will tour the city Sunday in the annual "Heart Sunday" drive to climax the month-long fund raising campaign, according to Mrs. Omer Wolfigram, publicity chairman.

Goal for Kaukauna this year is $2,200, almost $600 more than was received in 1960. Mrs. Wolfigram indicated, six per cent of all collected is used for promoting future heart fund drives while the remaining 94 per cent is used entirely for research into heart diseases.

General chairman for the local effort is Dr. George Behnke. Over 150 women have agreed to assist in the Sunday effort. Earlier this month, 9-year old Diane Vosters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Vosters, route 2, Kaukauna, was crowned "queen of hearts" for Kaukauna.

Diane has undergone heart operations which were made possible through research done with funds from previous campaigns.

Town of Neenah Seeks Expansion, Joint Use by City

NEENAH — Operation of the fresh air camp by the Town of Neenah for recreation purposes and continuance of its ownership by the City of Neenah was discussed Tuesday night at a joint meeting of the park and recreation committees of both the city and town.

The township committee sought a discussion on the possibility of development and expansion of the property for the joint use of residents of the town and city. The fresh air camp is located along Lake Winnebago off Bayview Road.

Board Responsibility

The meeting was held to discuss the city's turning the property over to the township for use. The health and welfare committee of the Neenah Council gave the city's park and recreation board the responsibility to discuss this with the town committee.

Another joint meeting is set for 4:30 p.m. March 7 at the Neenah recreation building. The town's committee will have its next regular meeting at Lakeview School March 21.

The township committee visualized additional property adjacent to the fresh air camp to make a better program possible.

"Operation Booster-2" is the theme for the dinner at which the following through for promoting Neenah-Menasha merchants during 1961 will be planned.

Executive Opposed by Board Unit

OSHKOSH — Opposition to the proposed county executive plan was voiced by the judiciary committee of the Winnebago County Board at its meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Supv. J. Robert O'Reilly, Town of Poygan, committee chairman, said the committee thought the county executive plan would put too much authority into the hands of one man and take away some of the duties of the county board.

An executive plan might work all right for cities which have the city manager setup, but a county is different since it includes both rural and urban areas, he said.

'Too Much Politics'

The county executive would have the power to hire and fire county employees and make appointments to boards and committees which now are made by the county board, he continued. O'Reilly said the committee thought the plan "would put it too much into politics."

Salary of the county executive and his staff would run to about $40,000 a year, the committee thought.

The judiciary committee also discussed bringing in a resolution of one man and take away some of the duties of the county board.

$34,000 Will be Saved on Neenah Street Project

NEENAH — A net savings of approximately $34,000 will be realized in the reconstruction of S. Commercial Street, Wayne Bryan, director of public works, says. The saving will be about $13,000 to Neenah, $6,000 to Winnebago County and $15,000 to the federal government.

Bryan said the savings were possible because of much lower bids than had been expected. Schuette Builders, Manitowoc, was low bidder for general work at $278,175. At the time the budget was set

North Central Backs Nelson's Demand for Airport Planning

Carrier Wants Separate Division For Economic Field Development

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — North Central Airlines is backing Gov. Gaylord Nelson's demand for a better airport planning program for the state.

The state's principal scheduled air line, which has criticized the state aeronautics department on other occasions, sent a spokesman to the legislature Wednesday to testify on the agency's budget.

Jack DeWitt, Madison lawyer, said the carrier is anxious to enter the state.

Nelson's proposed requirement that the department set up a program of airport priorities, and that the separate division of economic development be given funds for economic studies related to airport planning.

Imply Criticism

Both proposals are understood here to imply criticism or dissatisfaction about the aeronautics department's policies and attitudes.

Thomas K. Jordan, director of the agency, evidently shared that interpretation when he told the legislative joint finance committee that his own agency is already authorized to make economic studies in aviation and suggested that allotting funds to the economic development agency would be duplication.

But DeWitt said his firm is distressed by the lack of economic planning in the state aviation program and demanded that the state "come up with a long range plan."

Noting that the state agency now responds to local community requests, he said "we cannot depend on the local communities for this kind of planning. They cannot agree among themselves. There is too much local pride involved."

Cites Fox Valley

He cited the current controversy about the location of airports in the lower Fox River Valley as an example.

There is a real danger that too many large airports will be built, and that ultimately air service will degenerate into "an expensive elevator service," he told the legislators.

Jordan and other officials of his agency said they have no quarrel with Nelson's budget recommendations for their agency, although it would have the effect of lessening its income somewhat.

When Sen. W. A. Draheim of Neenah, finance committee chairman, asked whether he intended to lobby for additional money, later in a separate bill, Jordan said he did not, but that he could not speak for other aviation interests or the localities of the state concerned about state aids for local airport construction.

Pending Budget

The pending budget would permit a $9,000,000 program, largely for construction, during the next two years, with federal and local money making up most of it. State aids would be under 10 per cent, it was estimated. The department would have no general tax fund income, but would get aircraft fees, unrefunded aviation taxes and other income amounting to about $300,000 a year from the state.

Jordan described the state airport system as "excellent." Wisconsin is as well off as any state in the country, in airport service, he said, and then went on to explain that the department plans to build at least 40 more airports for a total of 104.

Policemen of The Fox Cities

(This is another in a series of stories on Fox Cities area policemen.)

Robert A. Nechodom, 33, of 722 E. Main street, Little Chute, joined the Little Chute police force May 30, 1950, and was promoted assistant chief March, 1957. He is married and has three sons and five daughters.

Nechodom served two years in the army in World War II and was wounded at Okinawa. He is a member of the American Legion and the Wisconsin Juvenile Officer association. He formerly was employed by the Fox River Tractor company and the Army Corps of Engineers.

Fox Cities Get State Commendation On Milk Programs

Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and Kaukauna have received commendation from the state board of health for their excellent Grade A milk control programs.

Surveys conducted in each of the four cities by the state showed better than 90 per cent compliance with the U. S. Public Health Service Milk Ordinance and the Wisconsin State Grade A law.

Each community was placed on the national honor roll of Grade A cities, which requires at least a 90 per cent rating.

The survey included inspections of all dairy plants in the cities and dairy farms which supply them.

Municipal health officers and milk sanitarians were commended for good enforcement of state and federal codes and for their efforts to improve the status of the respective milk sheds.

Committee Backs Frick For State School Post

William G. Freiburger, New London businessman, is a co-chairman of the statewide committee supporting Frederick F. Frick, West Allis, for state superintendent of public instruction.

Also on the committee are Lloyd J. Berken, Appleton, and Mrs. Walter Schoenrock, New London.

OSHKOSH — Clarence F. Gresen, 40, 658½ Winnebago Heights, Neenah, pleaded innocent of driving on the wrong side of the road Wednesday and Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane set trial for March 20.

Gresen was arrested after an accident on county trunk A at 1:51 a.m. Jan. 28 which resulted in damage to a railroad signal and another car.

Denies Drunken Driving Charge

Helmuth W. Jahnke, 39, 539 E. South River St., Tuesday in Municipal Court denied a charge of drunken driving.

He posted $118.95 bond and trial was set for Aug. 1. Jahnke was arrested by county police Feb. 19 at State 76 and U.S. 10.

Groups Clash Over School Aids Hike

Educators, Taxpayers Spokesmen Argue About $17 Million Increase

MADISON (AP) — Educators and spokesmen for taxpayers groups clashed Wednesday over a proposed $17 million increase in state school aids.

Supporters of the measure were termed "wild spenders" at an Assembly Education Committee hearing. Opponents said it would add to an already heavy tax burden.

Integrated Aide

However, Committee Chairman Walter Calvert, R-Benton, sponsor of the bill, said it would ease the increasing personal property and real estate tax burden.

It would: Increase flat aid in districts qualifying for integrated aids from $53 to $60 per high school pupil.

Adjust the formula for computing state aid by boosting the equalization factor from $33,000 to $36,000 for integrated districts, from $28,000 to $29,000 for elementary districts and from $70,000 to $75,000 for union high school districts.

The Legislative Council refused to endorse the bill on the ground that additional expenditures should be delayed pending tax revision.

Supports Measure

George Watson, state superintendent of public instruction, pointed out that the 1949 law established the present aids procedure and provided for biennial aid adjustment.

In support of the measure, Watson said the bill was an attempt to "adjust the formula as the aids law intends. He said that in 1949 the total equalized valuation of Wisconsin was $7.9 billion and in 1960 was $18.8 billion.

"Obviously, changes have been needed," Watson said.

Watson said the state now provides about 25 per cent of the cost of education and unless the formula were revised this percentage would drop. He said Wisconsin is in the lowest group of states in school support.

More than a dozen school superintendents from all parts of the state agreed with Watson and spoke in favor of the bill.

From Appleton

Fred Bach, a member of an Appleton Taxpayers Association, said "before we pass any spending bill we should first find out what the tax program is going to be."

Courtland Carrier, a member of an Oshkosh Taxpayers Association, charged most of those in favor of the measure "believe all we need to do to improve education is to spend more money."

Those who opposed the proposal pointed out that under the existing formula state aids would increase by 20 million for the 1961-63 biennium because of growing enrollments and the added boost would mean a total of $37 million in state aids.

Small Fire at Prange's

Three Appleton fire engines were sent to the H. C. Prange Co. at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday after a short in the wiring of a light caused a small fire on the fifth floor. Damage was minor.

Double Trouble For Driver

Fined Today in Two Courts for Drunken Driving

A rural Neenah man today entered two pleas of no contest to two charges of drunken driving in two courts. He was fined a total of $250. His driving privileges are revoked for one year.

Richard J. LaFond, 29, route 1, Payne's Point, Neenah was fined $100 for drunken driving and $5 for a violation of a restricted driver's license when he appeared before Neenah Police Justice E. P. Arpin.

He was arrested by Neenah police at 12:15 a. m. Nov. 28, 1960, in the 800 block of S. Commercial Street after they noticed him driving erratically. He refused the drunkometer test.

Second Arrest

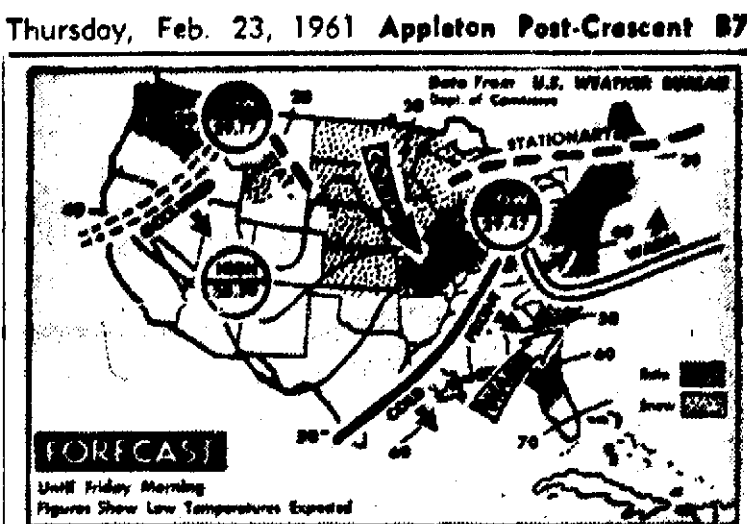

LaFond, through an attorney, pleaded no contest to a drunken driving charge before Winnebago County Municipal Judge Arnold Cane and was fined $150 or 40 days in jail.

LaFond was arrested at 11:16 p. m. Feb. 11 on County Trunk A after he crossed the center line, lost control of his car and skidded into a ditch.

LaFond also was convicted of drunken driving in 1959.

Edward F. Wolf, 52, 3286 Shorewood Dr., Oshkosh, this morning changed his innocent plea to guilty of drunken driving and hit-and-run driving. Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane fined him $125 for drunken driving and $50 for leaving the accident scene.

He was arrested Feb. 12 after the car he was driving collided with a car on State 175 in the Town of Black Wolf.

Rain and Drizzle Will fall tonight over the eastern portion and the north and middle Atlantic states while showers are likely for the south Atlantic states, the central Appalachians and the middle Mississippi valley. Considerable snow is forecast for the eastern part of the north and central plains states with snow flurries over the lakes area.

Young Cattle Killed in Fire Near Hollandtown

HOLLANDTOWN — Five heifers

were killed in a fire this morning that destroyed the barn and milk shed at the Gerald Van Asten farm, route 3, Kaukauna, about two miles east of Kaukauna north of County Trunk Q.

Hollandtown Volunteer firemen were able to save from 30 to 35 milk cows and concentrated their fire fighting toward saving the house and the nearby machine shed.

The fire was discovered at 4 a. m. by the owner.

The Hollandtown department used a pumper and two tank trucks. The heavy fog slowed water trucks supplying the pumper from the White Clover Dairy.

The barn was recently remodeled. The cause of the fire is unknown and there has been no estimate of the loss made.

Firemen remained at the farm on standby alert over the con-

Man Gets Fine, Order to Pay Accident Damage

CHILTON — In justice court Raymond C. Wiegert, 38, 1007 LaFollette St., Little Chute, was assessed a $100 fine by Justice John Daul after Wiegert pleaded guilty of reckless driving.

Wiegert was arrested by Calumet County police as a result of an auto accident Feb. 4 on County Trunk N in the Town of Harrison. Wiegert's car went into the ditch, regained the road only to veer into the left ditch. He drove through a fence, turned his car around in a field and attempted to drive through another portion of the fence to get back onto the road.

When he stalled, passing motorists attempted to assist him. One had his suit and shoes badly torn on barbed wire.

In addition to the fine, Daul ordered restitution of $61 for damage to the fence and ordered Wiegert to pay for the damaged clothing. The latter has not been paid.

Fox Valley to Lead State in Future Growth, Carley Says

Resource Development Director Believes Next 10 Years Critical

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — The next 10 years were termed critical for Wisconsin by David Carley, director of the Department of Resource Development for the state.

Looking ahead to the future, Carley predicted that most of the state's expansion will take place in the Fox River Valley. Admitting that the Milwaukee-Racine-Kenosha area now is the industrial center of the state, Carley pointed out that there is no room for expansion. "This area, Green Bay through the Fox Cities, will have to accommodate the expansion capabilities in the state," he emphasized.

Carley said Wisconsin now stands at the threshold of real economic growth, pointing out that the state has just about completed the transition from an agricultural to an industrial state.

Speaking to the Northern Wisconsin chapter of the National Association of Accountants at the Elks' Club, Carley reviewed the economic history of Wisconsin.

Lumbering First
He said that the state's first economy was based on lumbering. As the industry grew, it soon depleted the timber supply and gradually the state shifted to an agricultural economy. "Wisconsin was known as an agricultural state for many years," Carley said, "especially in the field of dairy farming where it ranked as high as any state in the union."

However, he said, the state has again gone through a transition and now has an industrial economy, a transition not yet complete. In explaining the shift from agriculture to industry, Carley said Wisconsin originally was geographically displaced. He pointed out that most of the nation's industrial activity for many years was centered in a manufacturing belt that extended from Boston and Pittsburgh on the east to Chicago and St. Louis to the west.

Primary Handicap
"Modern transportation facilities and technological advances moved the manufacturing belt into Wisconsin," he said. "One of the state's main drawbacks was the fact that, outside of its timber stands, it had no natural resources. This handicap now is being overcome by transportation improvements which bring these resources into the state."

Citing an example, Carley said Wisconsin has no natural gas or oil supplies of its own. Yet today, he said, at least 17 pipelines are in the planning stage which will bring these resources into the state for processing. He predicted that Wisconsin soon will have a giant petrochemical industry.

"With the lack of natural resources no longer a problem, Wisconsin can move ahead," Carley stated. "This is why the next 10 years are critical."

"Wisconsin now is an average state," said Carley, pointing out that its income and share of the gross national product ranks the state with most of the others.

"This is what's wrong with us," he emphasized. "Wisconsin cannot remain stable. Wisconsin needs a larger per cent of the national income."

On Credit Side

Detailing some of the state's attributes, Carley said the state has the best skilled labor force in the country as a result of the nation's top vocational school program. The new interstate highway program, coupled with the existing trunk system, serves to bring in new resources and the airplane also has meant a great deal to the state's economy, he said.

Carley said economic growth will result in additional jobs, increased spending and more services. Additional jobs will bring new people into the state, thus creating still more jobs in the retail and service fields.

"There's another side to this picture, however," warned Carley. "Industrial expansion is not all to the good. New industry creates noise, pollution and economic problems in addition to social problems," he pointed out.

Problems Ahead

Carley said several smaller communities in the state already have found this out.

"One of these communities has told our department to stop bringing in new industry," he said. New industries, according to Carley, result in a drain of working capital. Communities find they must provide additional sewer and water service, police and fire protection and schools.

The state official also admitted that existing industries and other businesses occasionally oppose new industry in their communities.

"This is because they fear competition," he said. Carley cited instances in which industries were prevented from moving into an area because employers already located there feared that wage and working standards would rise.

"The economic growth of one community may result in the economic death of a smaller, nearby area," he said.

Summing up his remarks, Carley said "industrial development brings new opportunities, but it also brings new challenges if the state is to grow."

Once a Special Occasion Fruit, Plentiful Oranges Today Make Many Golden Recipes

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

It's a rare food store today that doesn't have an abundant supply of golden oranges, the fruit that's so rich in vitamin C. But it wasn't always so . . . almost everyone who admits to 50 years or more can remember back to the days of childhood when the golden fruit was a treasure . . . a surprise in the toe of a Christmas stocking . . . a reward for extra good behavior . . . only a very special occasion treat.

In the last 50 years this picture has changed in the United States. Today this country produces about a third of the world's supply of oranges . . . production has multiplied seven times over since the turn of the century . . . and modern transportation brings the fruit direct from far-off groves in Florida, California, Arizona and Texas.

Here are a few tempting recipes that use these citrus fruits in fresh form, canned or frozen as concentrated juice.

Sunburst Upside-Down Cake
¾ cup butter
11-ounce can mandarin oranges, drained
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup chopped nuts
¾ cup flaked coconut
1½ cups sifted enriched flour
¾ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon lemon extract
1/3 cup hydrogenated shortening
1 egg
Melt butter in 9-inch round cake pan. Arrange mandarin oranges in sunburst pattern in melted butter. Mix brown sugar, nuts and coconut. Sprinkle on top of oranges.

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in a large bowl. Combine milk and lemon extract. Add shortening and one-half cup of milk mixture to dry ingredients. Mix to blend by beating at medium speed with electric mixer for two minutes or 300 strokes by hand. Add remaining milk and egg. Mix to blend, two minutes more with electric beater or 300 strokes extra.

Turn batter into pan over orange mixture; spread evenly. Bake in 350-degree oven about 45 minutes. Cool about 15 minutes before removing cake from pan.

Orange Juice Crush
2 cups fresh orange juice
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 egg white, beaten
dash of salt
Combine orange, lemon juices, sugar, orange and lemon rinds. Turn into ice cube tray and freeze until crystals form around edges, about one hour and 15 minutes. Remove from freezer; place into mixing bowl. Add egg white and salt. Beat with electric or rotary beater until fluffy. Return to freezer and freeze until firm, stirring three or four times. Recipe yields six servings.

Tangerine Orange Sauce
2 teaspoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup fresh orange juice
2 tangerines, sectioned
Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt in saucepan. Stir in orange juice. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Cool. Add tangerine sections.

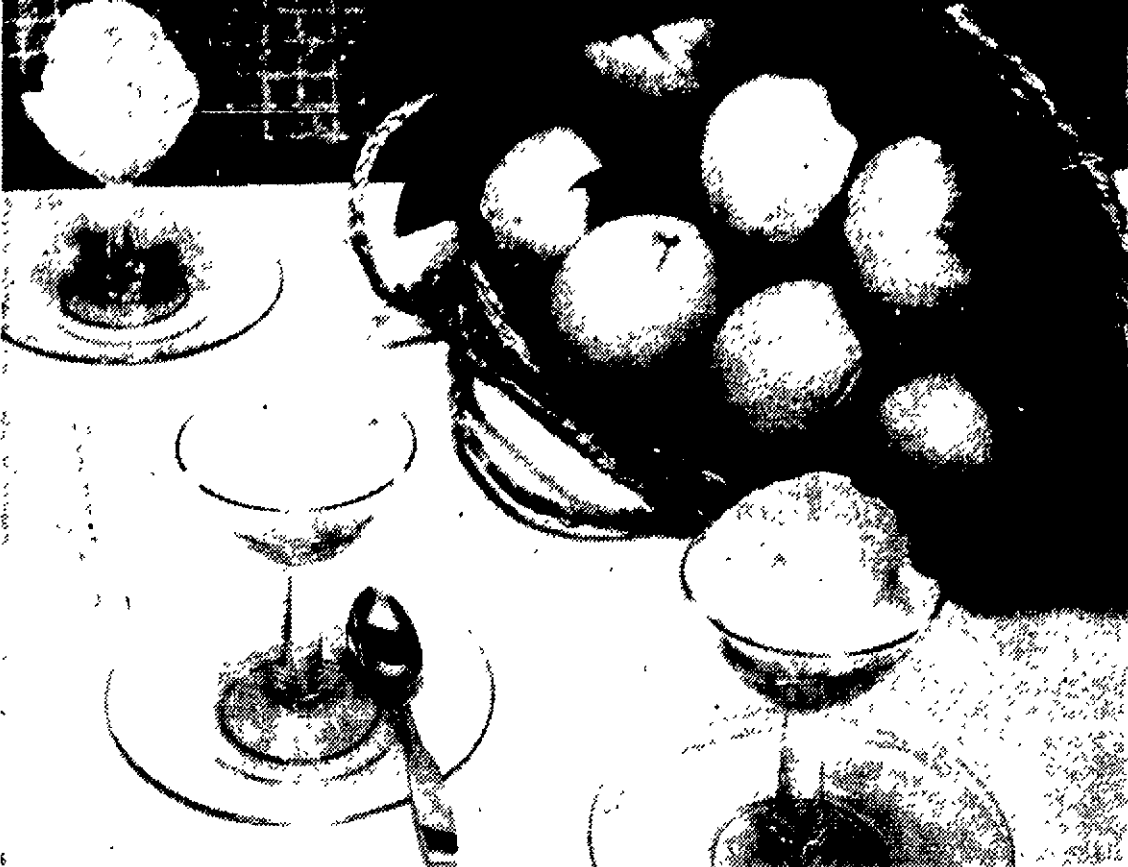

Orange Flavor From Fresh, Juicy Fruit is baked right into these individual puddings. Then, to gild the lily, they are topped with an orange sauce or sweetened whipped cream and orange sections.

Sunburst Upside-Down Cake, a tempting and inviting treat for tag-end winter days, features a bright topping of mandarin oranges, brown sugar, coconut and nuts. This colorful cake will add a bright touch to the table for any occasion.

Tangerine Cream Mousse
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup water
6 ounces frozen tangerine concentrate 1 cup heavy cream
fresh tangerine sections
Mix together gelatin, sugar and salt in saucepan. Add water; place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat; stir in Quick and Easy to Make, Orange Juice Crush is an example of a delicious concoction that has many uses. It's chock-full of health-giving nutrients and may be served as a dessert, as a topping for a fruit cup or as an accompaniment to roast fowl.

Cream Mousse Takes Kindly to the flavorsome tangerine, at the peak of its season right now. A fruit concentrate is used in the recipe, fresh tangerine sections top the dessert. Sectioned tangerines and orange juice combine in the luscious sauce.

A Trio of Breakfast Breads, all tangy with the flavor of undiluted orange juice concentrate, are Orange Honey Rolls at the top, Orange Nut Biscuits on the board in the center and Orange Cinnamon Toast.

Writer Asks Specific Rules To Guide 'Dropper-Inners'

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Now he hasn't seen in years is a widow vice to people who are the victims of others' how about saying something about "Dropper-Inners?"

The type I'm talking about is the lonely or the convalescent. They always pick the bluest people they know.

It's off, but the individuals I would really love to see never drop in unexpectedly—just the boys. Will you say something specific on this subject?—"Tonight Weader."

Dear "Weader.": I've said plenty on this subject and I intend to say more from time to time. It's one of my personal crusades.

It may surprise you to learn that not all people feel as we do. Whenever I print a word knocking Dropper-Inners I get a raft of bitter blasts, specially from small towns. They scream "We feel honored when people drop in." I say the "honor" is all theirs.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Since we moved to this city my husband has learned that a cousin

My husband wants to go but I am against it. She's about 38 and we are in our middle 40's. He says she was very attractive in her younger days but he hasn't seen her in 18 years and has no idea what she looks like now.

I say why borrow trouble. The arguments are getting more frequent and more bitter. He agreed to abide by whatever you said if I would write. I agreed also. What's the advice? — Stubborn Canadian

Dear Stubborn: The woman is probably a perfectly harmless widow with no ulterior motives. If she had wanted to contact your husband without your knowledge she could have done so.

spend a lot. But, I finally did buy a pair that cost much more and they, too, are bad. What do I look for when purchasing scissors, or what questions should I ask? Mrs. H. S. N.

A. First, you must not try to cut all fabrics with one size of scissors. You should have small embroidery scissors for trimming fine fabrics, a medium size for regular dress weight fabric and a larger pair of shears for heavy coating and suiting. As for quality, this is difficult for you to see just by looking at them. Ask these questions: 1) Are they hop-drop forged? 2) Has a genuine screw or bolt been used, rather than rivets that will loosen easily and cannot be tightened again? Loose blades will chew rather than cut fabric. 3) Are the scissors nickel plated? If they are, don't buy them.

Q. What is the method for putting elastic around a little boy's corduroy pants? Thank you, Mrs. J.H.

A. The most desirable method is to use a casing. First cut the desired length of elastic, then stitch one end firmly to the side seam. Turn hem over the elastic and stitch, pulling the elastic every few inches until you reach the other side seam. Then stop and bar tack or stitch back and forth securely, the end of the elastic before completing the hem. See illustration.

Q. I have trouble sewing with heavy cotton and linen thread. I'm sure tension is causing the trouble. What should I do? Miss T.R.

A. When sewing with this heavy thread, I suggest increasing the upper tension, especially on thick

Holding Off Trump Can Set Bidder

It's important to grab a certain kind of trick before the mice get at it. Trump tricks are not, however, in this class; if you don't take them early, you get them later. And, like cheese, a trump trick may ripen if you give it time.

West opens the jack of hearts, and the defenders continue the suit for three rounds. South must ruff the third heart with the jack of spades to have any chance at all for his contract.

You can see what happens if West is afraid of the mice. He over-ruffs with the queen of spades. This over-ruff costs West only one trick — the setting trick.

No matter what West leads back, South can get to dummy for a spade finesse. He wins a finesse with the 10 of spades and draws the two remaining trumps with the ace. He then claims the rest of the tricks, nodding gratefully at West.

Promotion
 Now see what happens if West refuses to over-ruff at the third trick. After the jack of spades has been played, West's nine is promoted in rank. Instead of being the sixth highest trump it is the fifth highest. This is an important promotion.

South wins the third trick with the jack of spades and gets to dummy to try a trump finesse. No matter how he plays the trumps he must lose one trick to the queen and another to the nine.

Even if South plays the trumps by leading out the ace and the seven from his own hand, he must still lose two trump tricks. Losing two hearts and two spades, South is down one.

The moral is clear: Don't be in a hurry to over-ruff declarer when you have a sure trump trick in any case. Discard instead, and perhaps your one sure trump trick may blossom into two tricks.

Answer: Pass. Avoid responding when you have only three points in high cards and mediocre distribution as well.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Tress Distress

Hair problems never cease, or so letters from lovelies indicate. The current puzzlers involve hair care, its facts and fictions. What they are and how to deal with them are as follows, and among the lot you are sure to find an answer to a pet perplexity:

Is it true, as some claim, that rollers are injurious to the scalp? Experts believe that rollers, in themselves, are not harmful. What just might cause damage is rolling too tightly and thereby bruising the scalp.

Do dryers aggravate dry scalp and hair conditions? Not when you set the heat regulator to low or medium. For drying a set, the method is thought preferable to leaving the hair in a sodden mass for the hours it takes to dry without heat. You actually get a helpful treatment, if you apply a little scalp ointment before setting and going under a dryer. Does the regular use of a spray make the hair brittle? It depends on the spray you use. Like a shampoo or a permanent, a spray must be chosen according to hair-type — dry, oily, normal. And the diversity of sprays increases constantly. Besides pampering your hair-type, sprays now have ingredients that lend body, offer

Pioneers Hold 89th Annual Feb. 22 Dinner

William Wolf Hasn't Missed a Washington Day in Last 50 Years

For 89 years the Outagamie County Pioneer and Historical Society has met in Appleton for a noon dinner and program on Washington's birthday anniversary.

Yesterday's meeting at Elk's Club was a milestone for William F. Wolf, 85, 528 N. Meade St., who has not missed one of these annual get-togethers since he joined the organization 50 years ago. To honor the occasion, he presented a historical paper on Miss Jane Dousman and her pioneer work as a missionary teacher among the Menominee Indians from 1840 to 1870.

Our Children Idea of 'Average' Haunts Youngsters

BY ANGELO PATRI

We are used to saying average: average rainfall, average income, average children when we mean "The usual," not the individual, and when we face a fact in any field of life it is the fact, not the mystical average that we must meet.

We are all agreed that no two children come into the world alike in any degree. They are as different as different can be. Yet daily we meet anxious mothers who say, something like this: "My child is a year old and he does not talk. He says ma-ma, bye-bye, but that's all. My sister's child is only nine months old and says lots of words. What should I do to get him to talk?"

Delay Speech
Some children talk early in their careers, some later. Children have been known to delay speech until 3 years old, an occasional one even later. Normal children will learn to talk when they are ready for it.

All babies need to hear talk. They learn to distinguish their mothers' voices early, and that is when the foundation for speech is laid. The talk mothers use as (they bathe and dress their babies is part of the teaching and learning that must be done. The Mother Goose rhymes, the nonsense verses, the lullabies, songs, stories, are all essential in helping the child to learn speech. But while this is a highly important element in a child's progress toward speech, Nature controls the readiness of the child to talk. So teach by talking, singing, storytelling but wait patiently for the end result. A normal child will talk in his good time. He is an individual and not a statistic.

Haunts Children
All through childhood and adolescence this "average" idea haunts the children. Parents are anxious to see growth and progress toward successful maturity in their children and they constantly compare them with those they see around them. Why don't they play an instrument? The neighbors' children do. Why aren't they in the club? So and so is. He is under weight by the standard. Why doesn't he eat more? He's not the right height according to standard. What can be done to stretch him? The idea seems to be he must be as others are, be average, or he is a failure. It is best, because it cannot be otherwise, that a child be himself—tall, short, fast, slow, intellectual, motor-minded, social-retiring—as he was created. He is not average—he is individual and must be known that way and helped along that way.

Hear Talk on National Topic

"Unity in Faith Through Reading" was the topic of Mrs. Ignatius Theiss at the meeting of Sacred Heart Christian Mothers Tuesday evening. This is the national theme for February. The speaker stressed the importance of good literature and keeping well informed in government and world affairs.

Ray Fritz spoke on COMBAT, council on movies, books, audio, and television. He presented a display of books on sale throughout the city and urged members to take action against objectionable literature.

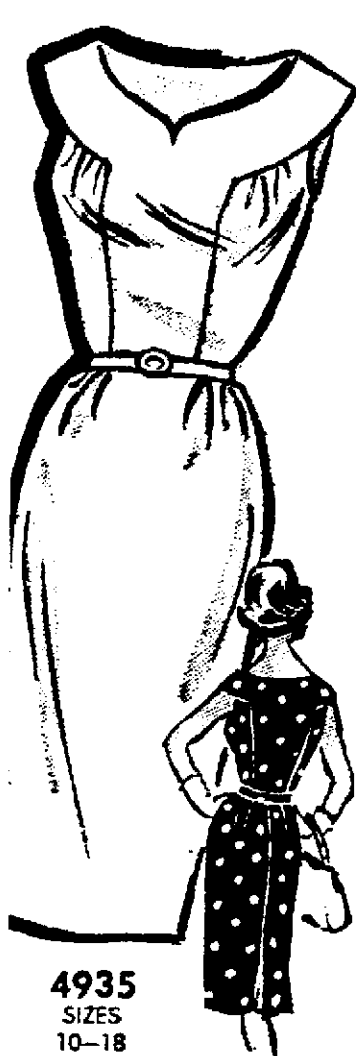

After a brief business meeting, coffee was served by Mrs. Leonard Brasch and her committee. The next meeting will take place March 21.

Pets Have Their Own Distinct Personalities

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Dogs are in-troverts and extroverts just like a person who is undecided. You've got to make sure he understands exactly what you want him to do, in fact, grow into four-legged fac-similes of their owners.

"I have a feeling," Bartos says seriously, "that a dog that gets too human can be a little dishonest. He knows what he's supposed to do, and he knows that you know he knows. But he's come to like the soft life, and wants to do everything the easy way."

Basically, dogs are very much what you allow them to be, says Bartos, a professional handler, specialty judge and manager of a big research kennel in the Pacific Northwest.

"With 114 recognized breeds, of all sizes, shapes and dispositions, you can't make flat statements about dogs' temperaments any more than you can about human nationalities."

"It's true a highstrung, frenetic woman can make a nervous wreck out of a lot of animals, but a phlegmatic basset, for example, probably wouldn't be bothered."

Bringing up dogs is very much like raising children, he explains. The most important things are patience, consistency and good management. "And no one is worse for a dog, or a child, than a person who is undecided. You've got to make sure he understands exactly what you want him to do, and then make sure it does every time."

But Bartos, who has raised three children and innumerable dogs, says we expect too much of our dogs—and children, too.

"We expect them to adjust immediately to every situation. Most people who expect a dog to be worldly first take him to a busy shopping district and drag him all around to expose him to everything. This is the worst thing in the world to do. He has to be prepared gradually. If you do have an extrovert who takes readily to crowds, he may have other faults. Sometimes dogs who are the hardest to train retain the training longer. Impatience is an owner's worst fault."

Handling Important
Bartos' experience with dogs goes back to childhood. His parents raised German shepherds as a hobby. He began raising terriers, and the dour dignified Scotty is still his favorite breed.

In 1947 he went into dog nutrition work. "Since World War II tremendous strides have been made in research."

But proper diet is only one part of good management, which Bartos says can make or break a dog. "More dogs are ruined by bad management than by bad breeding."

About 150 Members of the Outagamie County Pioneer and Historical Society attended the organization's 89th annual meeting Wednesday at the Appleton Elks Club. Seated at the speakers' tables are E. A. Miss Platt is from Madison, the others from Appleton.

Annual Session

Glimpse of Civil War Through a Chaplain's Letters Given Society

A glimpse of life during the Wisconsin State Historical Society's Civil War years through letters of a Wisconsin Army chaplain and his family was presented Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Outagamie County Pioneer and Historical Society at the Appleton Elks Club. Her talk was based on the letters of the Rev. Samuel Eaton of Lancaster to his family and those he received from his wife and sons. The Rev. Eaton was chaplain of the famous Iron Brigade, Seventh Wisconsin Regiment, from 1862 to 1865. His son, Edward, later became president of Beloit College.

"WHAT?"

A SALE ON

LONG DISTANCE?"

YES, MA'AM. In effect, that's what you get when you call long distance after six PM—and all day on Sunday. Rates are lower then.

And do you know what happens every night at nine on calls within Wisconsin? That's when "extra bargain time" begins. You can talk 10 minutes for the price of five, and keep right on talking at "half price" as long as you wish.

It's easy to call long distance. It's saving to call on Sundays—or after six PM on other days. And for those long, leisurely talks—remember—"extra bargain time" begins every night at nine.

with whom he worked. "It's the ordinary things, the living along from day - to-day that are important to history," she told her audience, "These make up the bulk of existence that makes life grow from one generation to another rather than such tragedies as floods, fires and disasters."

A chaplain in those days had many duties, most of which were not of a religious nature. The Rev. Mr. Eaton helped in hospitals, cared for the wounded, helped bury the dead and performed tasks such as holding a lantern for a surgeon while he operated on a patient.

He frequently wrote letters home for soldiers and an important responsibility was the mailing of soldiers' money to parents or wives. Just before going into battle, the chaplain often had his carpet bag filled with thousands of dollars with the job of getting the funds home for the men who entrusted their pay to him.

His letters tell of soldier hardships and describes the 40 to 50-pound pack that each man carried on a march of 15 to 20 miles. Gear included gun, powder flask, cartridges, cartridge box, woolen blanket, a heavy canteen full of water, three to five day's rations, a change of underwear and a treasured "housewife."

Women's Work

The housewife, also known as a comfort bag or a "hussy," was in reality a handmade sewing box. These were made by the thousands by women's groups, Miss Platt explained.

The Soldiers Aid Societies sprang up during the Civil War and the "ladies" performed a heroic war service on the home front. In Wisconsin women scraped lint for bandage linens at the request of the governor. This meant tedious hours of scraping linen pulled taut over the back of a plate. The work was done with the back of a table knife.

The women knitted, making woolen mittens with an index finger so the soldier could trigger his gun, mufflers and other apparel. In those days, it also meant shearing the sheep, carding, spinning and hanking the wool. Quilts, blankets were made by the hundreds and, in between times, the women made and packed jellies, jams and pickles. It seems, said Miss Platt, that pickled foods were particularly popular as a welcome supplement to the Army hardtack.

At first, packages were sent to individual soldiers, the speaker told her audience, which gave rise to the embroidering of names on the quilts. Later, the packages were sent to any Wisconsin soldier.

Wisconsin in Lead

"Wisconsin was most prolific of any state in the union in sending packages to its soldiers," Miss Platt declared. "From Dec. 1863 to July 1864 a few hundred packages a day rose to more than a thousand packages a day out of the Chicago post office. Wisconsin also sent more money than any other midwestern state."

Soldier's Fairs were conducted community groups to raise funds, Miss Platt said.

A bonus part of the program was a movie produced by the University of Wisconsin Extension Division on Wisconsin peoples. With the use of old paintings, photographs, drawings and a background of authentic folk music, the story of the state's 50 or more nationalities was narrated. The movie covered the period from Indian days through early settlement to 1924 when unlimited immigration was curtailed.

The film brought out that during a century from 1830 on, 35 million people left their European homelands to seek their land of when she lost control of the car, and it traveled across the street and over the curb. She was taken to her home by police.

Harrington met with John R. Richards, chancellor of the state system of higher education, on Monday and then came here for a meeting with the Oregon Board of Higher Education.
The university has been looking for a new president since O. Meredith Wilson resigned to accept the top post at the University of Minnesota last summer.
Among those recently interviewed by Oregon officials was Arthur S. Fleming, secretary of health, education and welfare in the Eisenhower administration.

Big Mistake to Wash Rice Before Cooking, Says Expert

BY FRANK KOHLER
Can you cook nice, fluffy white rice? We've always had a terrible time with it. But finally, Mrs. Dorothy Hutcherson of Houston, Texas, has come through with all the answers.
One of the biggest mistakes, she says, is washing the rice before cooking it, or using too much water and then draining off the surplus.
Here are her rules, and she knows whereof she speaks.
1. Put two cups of water and one teaspoon of salt in a large pot with a tight-fitting lid. Bring the water to a boil.
2. Add one cup of unwashed milled rice to the vigorously boiling water and let the water return to a hard boil.
3. Put the lid on tight, reduce the heat to a low simmer, and let it simmer without stirring, or even raising the lid, for exactly 14 minutes.
If you want it dryer, let it steam, uncovered, a few minutes after the 14 have elapsed. If you want it more tender, add one-third cup more of water and increase the cooking time by four to five minutes.
Here is her favorite recipe for Chicken Gumbo and Rice, held by many to be America's No. 1 favorite soup. Personally, we are of the Cream of Tomato school on that subject, but we still like this one mighty well.
Chicken Gumbo and Rice
¾ pound smoked ham, diced.
2½ cups tomatoes.
1½ quarts water.
1 pound okra, sliced.
1 cup thin sliced onions.
¾ cup chopped green peppers.
1 tablespoon minced parsley.
1 tablespoon salt.
¾ teaspoon pepper.
1 small bay leaf.
3 teaspoons gumbo file powder.
4 cups hot cooked rice.
Cook rice as above instructed, and keep it hot while cooking the soup.
Combine the chicken and ham in a lightly greased four-quart kettle or Dutch oven. Stir and let it brown lightly, then cover and let simmer 10 minutes, stirring a few times. Add tomatoes and next eight items, stir, cover, and let simmer about 1½ hours, or until chicken is very tender.

Some remove meat from the bones of the chicken, and some leave the pieces as they are. We remove the meat, but leave it in good-sized pieces. Return the chicken meat to the pot and heat thoroughly.
Remove soup from the heat, then sprinkle in the file powder, stirring constantly. A word of warning here — never boil soup after the file powder has been added. It makes a horrible, stringy mess if you do!
To serve this, mound heaps of rice in individual soup bowls, ladle the Gumbo over, and serve with garlic toast and a tossed salad.

Send your favorite recipe and a stamped self-addressed envelope to this newspaper and become a life member of The Skillet Club. We'll send you a membership card to prove it.

Harvard's Pusey Backs Kennedy's Education Plan

BOSTON (AP) — President Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard University says President Kennedy's education program submitted to Congress this week is a "reasonable and modest plan of attack on one of our most important national problems." (Pusey is a former Lawrence College president.)
"It emphasizes local control and local responsibility, at the same time recognizing that only a major effort at the national level can effectively grapple with the need for national quality, despite great numbers," Pusey said in an interview with Boston Globe reporter Ian Forman.

Pusey said he questions whether the $377.5 million five-year college scholarship program is large enough to maintain the supply of college teachers.
"In view of the lack of any recommended provision for extension of fellowship programs designed to increase and improve the supply of college and university teachers," Pusey said, "it is possible to question whether this program is of sufficient magnitude."
"In any event, the President proposes to move forward and I hope Congress will cooperate to make advance possible."

Rule on Polygamy Big Roadblock To More Christianity in Africa

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP)—One of the big roadblocks to Christianity in Africa is its rule against polygamy. A church official, back from that continent, is convinced there should be some changes in the rule.

"Frankly, after a year over there, I changed my mind about polygamy," said the Rev. Chester LeeMarcus of Cleveland, Ohio, secretary for racial and cultural relations of the United Church of Christ, in an interview.

"A whole system of social security and general welfare is tied up in this institution of multiple marriage."

Deny Membership
At present African churches deny full membership to families of men with more than one wife—a widespread situation in Africa. They can become only associate members, which means they cannot share in communion.

"They can attend and contribute but cannot come to the Lord's table," the Rev. Mr. Marcus said.

"In most every church there are as many noncommunicants, who would like to be full members but can't, as there are communicants. This is no way to draw them into committed church life."

If Christianity is not to remain crippled by this condition, he said, the churches must modify the rule to admit such persons, on condition that the husband takes no more wives, and their children are taught that monogamous marriage is best.

Should Accept
"We could bring at least two-thirds of these people into the church on that basis," he said. "We should accept all people who want to come."

The Rev. Mr. Marcus, 43, a scholarly, bespectacled Negro clergyman, spent the last year in western African countries on special assignment by his church, a recent merger of the Congregational Christian General Council and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

He said the present rigid anti-polygamy restriction, set up under influence of missionaries imposing Western cultural patterns, has become a "very serious" obstacle. It contrasts with Islam's policy, which does not oppose polygamy.

"Our evangelistic outreach has been greatly curtailed," he said. "We accept all kinds of other sinners into the church, assuming that polygamy is sin, and hope that in the fellowship of the church they will develop the sensitivity to see the sin and get rid of it."

Motives are High
However, he added, the idea that polygamy in Africa is sinful is "an assumption I'm not prepared to make. Sin has to be tied in with a man's motives, and in this case the motives are the highest rather than the lowest."

"Polygamy is all these people have known. When they come in contact with Christianity and believe it, they want to be a part of it. Yet they have a responsibility to their families—to several wives and children."

"It is asking too much to say that a man should abandon three of his four wives, especially when this relationship was entered in good faith, with no awareness that a moral question was involved."

Social Changes
He said eventual economic and social changes will do away with polygamy in Africa.

But at present, he said, it is a stabilizing force that assures care for widows and children, who otherwise would be left abandoned and homeless.

"There are no orphaned children in Africa," he said. He added that whenever a child's father dies, a brother of the father or other male relative is duty-bound to take widow and children into his family.

"They are really, genuinely taken into the new household," he said. "They are just as much a part of the family as the other wives and children."

"In this way, women continue a life of dignity instead of being castaways or left on a state dole. And every child has a home."

He said polygamy slowly will disappear, as Africa evolves from a barter economy to a money economy and wives become expenses or liabilities rather than assets.

'Person to Person' Appeal in Seal Drive To Be Stepped Up

The 40th annual Easter Seal campaign in Outagamie County will incorporate a "person to person" appeal in more areas than in last year's drive, said Les Robinson, president of the county Easter Seal Society.

Other wards and towns will have letter appeals for funds for care and treatment of crippled people, research and education, Robinson said.

Lawrence Springer, chairman of the drive, has appointed Mrs. George Springer and Mrs. Lawrence Springer as Appleton ward chairmen. Pat Mares is chairman of business and industry appeals; Mrs. William Helm, mailing, and Ross Warne and Springer, coin-canisters in business places.

Appleton American Legion Auxiliary will prepare Easter Seals Thursday for mailing.

Dramatic Improvement in Athletes' Injuries Provided by New Drug

NEW YORK (AP)—Instant coffee for black eyes. And for bruises, York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals, stretch socks and fumble, swellings, cuts, sprains and bur-nals football teams and the Cincinnati Royals basketball team. Its use is expected to spread on the thigh—a fracture or a sprain.

Don't be alarmed. Put a little white pill under your tongue, let it dissolve, and you're back in action in no time.

This relatively new medical discovery has attracted the attention of coaches and trainers of athletic teams, who find that the loss of talent through injuries can be reduced sharply.

The drug (known as veridase) was tried by boxers in the 1960 Olympics and also has been tested by members of the Boston Red Sox baseball team, the New York Yankees, and the Cincinnati Royals basketball team.

"This is by no means a cure-all," says Dr. Russell Cahoon of New York, who helped in the development of the drug, "but evidence is now in that shows that the drug affords prompt and effective relief of injuries."

The pill contains an enzyme known as streptokinase. In technical language, an area of inflammation is produced at the site of the injury and walled off from the uninjured tissues by a limiting membrane.

The pills were used by 150 of the 294 boxers in the Olympic Games at Rome—sometimes before and sometimes after the fights. Dr. J. L. Blonstein of the Amateur International Boxing Association said injuries on the whole were remarkably low.

Red Sox OK

Cuts did not require suturing, the doctor said, and black eyes, which ordinarily stay black a couple of weeks, cleared up in three days.

Dr. T. A. Lamphier, team physician of the Boston Red Sox, reported that he treated some 20 members of the team with the drug last year.

"The results were excellent," Dr. Lamphier said. "The number of out-of-play days was greatly reduced."

Frank Gifford, the Giants' star halfback, was hit by three Cardinal defenders and went down with torn ligaments of the right knee. The drug was administered. Dr. F. J. Sweeney, team physician, said normally Gifford would have been lost for three games. He was back in action the following week.

Makes No Distinction

Kennedy made no distinction between institutions or individuals that would benefit by his proposals for college scholarships and loans.

The over-all program, Bishop Shehan said, "denies even the least bit of help to 5 million children . . . excluded simply because their parents exercised their constitutional right by choosing for them education other than that of the state."

He added:

"Admittedly there are certain constitutional problems in working out a formula for aiding all children. Is there not ingenuity enough in the federal government to devise an acceptable course that would safeguard the Constitution and meet, at least to some extent, the needs of all children?"

The National Catholic Welfare Conference is the agency of American bishops which coordinates common activities of the Catholic Church in the United States.

Beloit College to Break Ground for Library Building

The contract for Beloit College's new $1,200,000 Colonel Robert H. Morse Library has been awarded to a Beloit building firm, President Miller Upton has announced.

The action is expected to spur plans for a groundbreaking by late March — slightly less than a year after announcement of a $475,000 gift for the building from the Colonel Robert H. Morse Foundation of Chicago. The other $725,000 needed for the building's construction has been provided by Beloit trustees.

The library is scheduled for completion by late summer of 1962, to permit occupancy by the opening of that year's fall term, Dr. Upton explained. The building is the first to be constructed under Beloit's multi-million dollar "Educational Blueprint for the Future" announced early in 1960.

Woman Common Scold, Neighbors Say in Complaint

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A woman has been charged with being a common scold in a complaint invoking a 101-year-old law which provides for the use of the ducking stool as punishment for persons convicted under its statutes. But Lancaster has no ducking stool.

Miss Mabel McCombs, 57, faces a further hearing March 8 on the charges. She was released on $500 bail Monday after a preliminary hearing during which six neighbors accused her of cursing them and otherwise being abusive. She replied that the complaining neighbors and their children had tormented her.

Richard Snyder, spokesman for the neighbors, conceded Tuesday that he didn't think the ducking stool law was feasible in this present day. He said, however, that the law in effect could result in stiffer penalties in lieu of the stool if a person is found guilty. He said he felt disorderly conduct charges he and his neighbors had filed against Miss McCombs previously resulted only in minor fines.

Since last August neighbors have lodged seven charges of disorderly conduct against Miss McCombs. She was ordered to pay costs of about $7 on the last charge filed Dec. 16.

When told that under the law, as enforced in the old days, a person convicted was fastened to a short stool and then dunked in a pond, lake or stream, Miss McCombs laughed and remarked: "Oh, my gosh."

This eastern Pennsylvania community last saw the law invoked in 1945. Lancaster county court placed the defendant on probation for a year and ordered her to pay prosecution costs in lieu of the ducking stool.

UW Foundation Gets Donations

Alumni, faculty, and friends accounted for the majority of funds collected last year by the University of Wisconsin Foundation.

Robert B. Rennebohm, executive director of the foundation, announced that gifts from individuals to the 1960 Alumni Fund amounted to $246,922.67. The year's total was $450,123.74.

Other gifts which can be credited to loyalty and generosity of former students included a bequest of $29,902.72; $26,105.42 from alumni clubs, class treasuries, and other special groups, and $2,632.1 from companies that matched gifts by their employees. The remaining $144,560.80 was in direct gifts from corporations and charitable foundations.

HE HAD BROADCAST HASH FOR BREAKFAST—The Breakfast Your Family Needs for Real Get-Up-and-Go!

Millions of people enjoy Broadcast Corned Beef Hash for lunch or dinner because it tastes so good. Now here's proof that it's also the high-protein breakfast your family needs!

HOW MUCH NUTRITION DOES YOUR FAMILY GET AT BREAKFAST?

ONE SERVING	PROTEIN (grams)	HIGH IN COMPLETE PROTEINS	CARBOHYDRATES (grams)	CALCIUM (milligrams)	IRON (milligrams)	NIACIN (milligrams)	VITAMIN B ₁₂ (micrograms)

All data based on statistics in U. S. Dept. of Agriculture "Composition of Foods" and "Nutritive Value of Foods."

One serving of Broadcast Hash gives you 3 1/2 times more protein than you get from a bowl of shredded or flaked wheat cereal—6 times more protein than you get from a bowl of corn flakes. You've never had a breakfast with so much get-up-and-go!

More proteins . . . and they're complete proteins! "Enriched" corn flakes, "enriched" wheat flakes, and even oatmeal are deficient in complete proteins. Broadcast Hash gives you plenty of complete proteins. Plus natural vitamins. And just enough carbohydrates for energy, but not enough to "overload" your system.

So easy to fix, too. Just open the can, heat, and serve. Fork-break the hash in a skillet and brown it. Or slice into 3 or 4 slabs and pop them under the broiler. Great as is. Great with an egg on top. Either way, it's a breakfast with get-up-and-go!

Business Deaths In U. S. Increase

BY SYLVIA PORTER
If you go into your own business now, the odds that you'll survive are the least favorable since the depths of the depression '30s.
If you already are in business, the odds are not much better. Every year, an average of 347 firms go bankrupt, according to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Every year, an average of 347 firms go bankrupt, according to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Every year, an average of 347 firms go bankrupt, according to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc.

At this rate of failures, 18,000 of the American dream of being your own boss, you haven't even a 50-50 chance of remaining your own boss for five years. Almost six of every 10 concerns in our country fail in five years or less, and even if you last to the 10-year mark, the odds that you'll go bankrupt are two out of 10.
The reason for this grim report is not just that we're into another recession, although, of course, the upsurge in business deaths reflects the 1960-61 recession and spurs it.
The fundamental reason is that our economy has entered the toughest, roughest, phase of competition in modern times—and in this era the businessman who doesn't recognize what he is facing or know how to fight competition successfully is going under.
Can't Bail Out
He can't bail himself out by price hikes as he could in the first postwar years and through most of the '50s. He can't get shabby service, sloppy salesmanship. We are into a real buyer's market—and the seller who can't sell simply won't survive.

So far this year, a huge total of 2,700 commercial and industrial firms have failed, according to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Every year, an average of 347 firms go bankrupt, according to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Every year, an average of 347 firms go bankrupt, according to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc.

At this rate of failures, 18,000 of the American dream of being your own boss, you haven't even a 50-50 chance of remaining your own boss for five years. Almost six of every 10 concerns in our country fail in five years or less, and even if you last to the 10-year mark, the odds that you'll go bankrupt are two out of 10.

Not only are the overall failure totals and percentages the darkest in years, the rate of failure is climbing too—is up to a 20-year peak of 57 per 10,000 companies listed by Dun & Bradstreet. In all areas except New England—which, happily, shows an improvement—the increase in failures is unmistakable. In the South Atlantic States, 34 per cent more firms failed in 1960 than in 1959. In the East, South Central and Mountain States, the rise was 24 per cent, and in other regions it ranged from 12 to 18 per cent. Bankruptcies are now ranging across the board in size of the companies and in the type of their business. While there were few failures among $100,000-and-up firms a few years back, recently the percentage of failures among these and the $1 million-and-over firms has increased sharply. In the past several months the worst bankruptcy record has been chalked up in the construction industry and among automobile dealers, auto parts stores, drug stores.

The Reason
Why are so many failing now? The apparent causes may be inadequate sales or competitive weakness or poor location or heavy operating expenses or unwise expansion or underfinancing or abrupt cancellation of a crucial contract, etc., etc., but, says Dun & Bradstreet, the underlying causes in the overwhelming number of cases are (1) inexperience, and (2) incompetence. The credit agency traces 49.9 per cent of all 1960's failures to lack of experience in the line, lack of managerial experience or unbalanced experience. It traces another 41.3 per cent of all failures to incompetence. "How else can you explain the fact that of two stores in the same line on the same block, one will flourish, the other fail?" asks a spokesman. "The difference will be found in experience and competence." All the other reasons for failures—neglect, fraud, disasters—account for only 9.2 per cent of the business deaths.
The years of the bail-out have moved into history. In this fiercely competitive era, the inexperienced or incompetent who goes into his own business is doomed. (Copyright, 1961)

Pneumonia Can Contribute to Cause of Pulmonary Infarction

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain pulmonary infarction. Can it be caused by pneumonia? Also, what is generalized arteriosclerosis?" — Mrs. R.E."

An infarction is a change in tissues due to an artery supplying that area becoming plugged and hence shutting off the blood supply.
When this occurs in some branch of the artery which supplies the heart muscle, it is a "coronary infarction," or heart attack.
But an infarction can occur in the lung, and thus is a pulmonary infarction.
Or, for that matter, a clot can lodge in an artery elsewhere in the body, and cause an infarction — in the leg, the pelvic region, or elsewhere.

Yes, pneumonia can be a cause of pulmonary infarction.
However, let's take your other question into consideration: Generalized arteriosclerosis may well have a bearing on an infarction, too. In fact, it is quite likely to be involved to some extent.
Arteriosclerosis means hardening of the arteries. When it is prevalent throughout the body, then we say it is generalized. As the arteries become hardened or "sclerosed," and lose some of their elasticity, they no longer can pass small clots as readily. Usually, as the arteries become hardened, they also become somewhat caked with fatty material, further obstructing the blood's passage through them.

In the above letter, the mention of the two things, pneumonia and arteriosclerosis, would seem to indicate that the patient in question had both, and the infarction followed.
The infarction could have been caused by either condition alone. However, the probability is that they worked together to cause the infarction.

Something to always keep in mind in safeguarding our health, is that while one particular thing can cause a certain type of injury, in most cases several factors more than likely will unite to do the mischief.

Varicose Veins
Dear Dr. Molner: Is stripping a sure cure for varicose veins, or can further trouble develop? — E.Q."
Stripping a vein means removing it. It's a sure cure for that vein. It cannot, of course, guarantee that trouble can't develop in some other vein.
Many times the stripping operation marks the end of the trouble. And even if trouble does recur in other veins, there has usually been several years of relief. (Copyright, 1961)

Company president, Oscar G. Mayer, Jr., inspects a bumper crop of wieners cooling on a "Wiener Tree" at our Madison, Wisconsin plant.

HAVE YOU EVER SEEN A "WIENER TREE"?

That's what this rack is called. Oscar Mayer Wieners are strung here to cool as they come from the smoke oven. They've been completely cooked, and now the skins will be removed so you can eat every bite without waste or fuss. We think our wieners taste better than any other kind because they are a specialty with us, not a sideline. We use only good lean meat and the finest, mildest seasonings. And we watch over every step as carefully as the first Oscar Mayer who founded our company back in 1883.

Friday Night's Games:
West at Appleton.
Manitowoc at East.
North at Fond du Lac.
Oshkosh at South.

BY MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Friday night's pep talks by Appleton High Basketball Coach Dick Emanuel can be short and snappy.

A simple recitation of the score of their first meeting should be enough to fire up the Terrors for the game with Green Bay West. The result was: West 50, Appleton 46.

That Jan. 20 upset knocked Appleton out of the WIAA's Big Sixteen ratings (they had been ranked tenth). And, it dropped the Terrors two games back of Manitowoc in the Fox River Valley Conference race.

Bitter Pill

The memories of that bitter pill should keep AHS from looking past the Wildcats to next week's tournament. In addition, Friday will be "Parents Night" with mothers and fathers of junior and senior players to be introduced before the game.

Champion Manitowoc will be seeking the first unbeaten season by a FRVC club under the present 8-team alignment at Green Bay East Friday. Sheboygan North is at Fond du Lac and Oshkosh visits Sheboygan South in other games.

A triumph Friday would send the Terrors into the sub-regional tournament, starting Thursday, with a 6-game home court winning streak. The Terrors have won their last three games and four of their last five since suffering a mid-season slump. West's Wildcats bring a streak of their own into Appleton. They've dropped three in a row. The "Cats" had something of a "lost weekend" Friday and Saturday, being upset by second division clubs East (53-51) and Fondy (70-56).

Coming Back

Emanuel feels his boys are "coming back to where they were before" their brief tailspin. "Except for the (60-46) loss at North we haven't had a bad game in the league's second round," he asserts.

"We're going to score more than 46 points against West this time," he believes. "Our job will be to hold down Jim Hennig and Rick Boyce. We limited Bill Way (the conference's No. 3 scorer) to three points in that first game. I don't expect we'll be able to do that again."

Six of the conference's top 12 pointmakers will be on display here Friday. Forward Way ranks third with 220, forward Boyce is seventh at 186 and guard Hennig twelfth with 142. Appleton's representatives are: Pete Treiber, fifth, 208; Dick Rankin, eighth, 172; and Marty Schultz, ninth, 157.

Sews Up Title

Manitowoc's Paul Meany, of course, has sewed up the individual title with 305 markers. That's 44 more than runnerup Chuck Huijbregtse of North.

Rankin's ankle is still sore as Turn to Page 2 Col. 6

St. John Five Favored Over MU Tonight

11th-Ranked Quint Is Headed for NCAA Tournament

NEW YORK (AP)—Marquette's young basketball Warriors get another chance to pull off a big upset tonight when they meet NCAA tournament-bound St. John's in the first game of a Madison Square Garden tripleheader.

St. John's, holder of a 15-4 record and ranked 11th nationally, rules an overwhelming favorite, but Marquette has high hopes of gaining vengeance for a 69-63 defeat by the Redmen in Milwaukee last year.

Marquette coach Eddie Hickey is counting on 6-4 Don Kojis, 6-8 Len Jefferson and 6-7 Dave Erickson to control the boards. St. John's will have plenty of height, however, in 6-4 Tony Jackson, 6-10 LeRoy Ellis and 6-4 Willie Hall up front.

The Warriors have a respectable 12-3 overall record, but are only 4-6 on the road. St. John's has lost only to high-flying Ohio State (70-65) at home.

The Marquette-St. John's game will get underway at 5 p.m. (EST). In other games, Wake Forest will meet New York University and Duke will play Seton Hall.

KAC '5' to Meet Menasha St. John

KAUKAUNA — The Kaukauna Athletic Club cagers will play their second game of the season at 8:15 p.m. today in the high school gym, tangling with the strong Menasha St. John quintet.

Both teams are well stocked with former star high school and college players. For the KAC, the game will serve as a warm-up for possible tournament competition later.

Pacelli '5' Nips Hawks to End Winning Skein

Rallies in Final 2 Periods to Overcome Xavier Ball Control

Pacelli High School's basketball team ended Xavier's winning streak at eight straight — longest in the Hawks' 2-year history — in a 37-36 thriller at Stevens Point Wednesday night.

The Central Catholic Conference champions thus avenged a November loss (80-67) to the Hawks and boosted their season record to 16-3.

Xavier has wound up pre-tournament play with a 16-4 record.

Control Ball

The Hawks played possession ball most of the way against the taller Pacelli quint, which has improved tremendously since their early-season meeting. Working deliberately for the good shot, Xavier gained a 17-13 halftime lead.

Pacelli, however, came back to take a narrow lead on the basis of a 17-12 third quarter.

After taking time out with 14 seconds left, the Hawks played for one final shot. The 15-footer rolled off, and the rebound scramble produced a double foul. On the jump ball Pacelli won control.

Xavier's "Kip" Whittlinger led both teams in scoring with 15 points. Dick Freiberg hit 11 for Pacelli.

The Hawks attempted only 26 floor shots — hitting on 12, for 47.5 per cent. Xavier made 12 of 15 free throws, while the winners sank seven of 10.

Bears to Meet Canadian Team In Exhibition

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears of the National Football League will meet the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Big Four in a night exhibition game in Montreal, Sat., Aug. 5.

Bear owner-coach George Halas said half the game would be played under NFL rules and the other half under Canadian rules, providing for addition of a 12th player.

Moore NFL Titlist In Kickoff Returns

Lyles Is Second; 1959 Champion Woodson Third

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay halfback Tom Moore, a rookie sensation in his first year with the Packers, is the National Football League's kickoff return champion of 1960.

Moore, a No. 1 bonus choice from Vanderbilt who was put into Green Bay's kickoff return platoon to gain experience, ran back 12 kickoffs for 397 yards for an average of 33.1 yards, according to NFL statistics released Wednesday.

The longest return by Moore was 84 yards. Len Lyles of the San Francisco 49ers beat out teammate Abe

Many Veteran Players Are Arriving in Camp Ahead of Schedule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Although the spring training season is just starting, veteran ball players apparently can't wait to get into camp — where the meals may be skimpy for overweight athletes, but they're free.

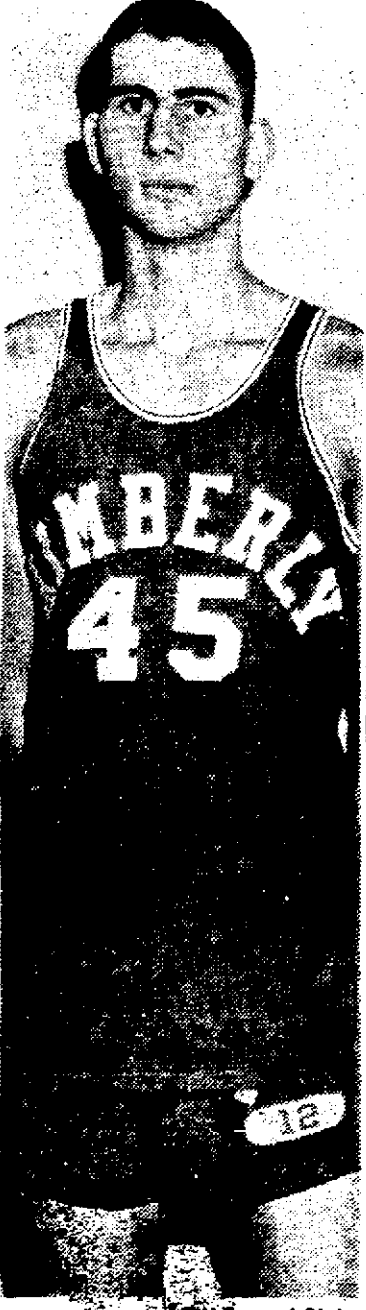

Among Wednesday's early arrivals were Willie McCovey, who reported with the first contingent of the San Francisco Giants at Phoenix although he's not due until Monday, and Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles.

Robinson, seven pounds overweight, is one of ten Oriole infielders and outfielders who joined the squad at Miami in advance of the March 1 reporting date to receive special conditioning.

McCovey, rookie of the year in 1959, wants to keep his weight at a present 202 pounds. McCovey was one of 14 Giants who reported to their new manager, Al Dark. Pitchers Mike McCormick and Stu Miller and catcher Hobie Landrith were the only other regulars.

Sixteen Cincinnati Reds' pitchers turned out for the opening workouts at Tampa and Manager Fred Hutchinson said one or two may become starting pitchers. Best bet appears to be Joey Jay, who came from Milwaukee in a trade. Hutchinson figures on Bob Purkey, Jim O'Toole, Jay Hook and Jim Maloney as regular starters.

The champion Pittsburgh Pirates had only one player, first baseman Dick Stuart, still unsigned as their battersmen began drills at Fort Myers, Fla. Two of the top rookie prospects in the New York Yankees camp aren't expected to make the team this year unless they can show enough to catch on as regulars. Pedro (Speedy) Gonzales, 22, a second baseman has lived up to his impressive minor league record so far, but he probably will wind up with the Richmond, Va. farm club, where he can play every day. His camp roommate, catcher Jesse Gonder, is more or less in the same position.

Bill Harvey Wins Tourney Medal With 138 Score

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Bill Harvey of Greensboro, N.C., runner-up in the Tournament of Golf Club Champions last year, was favored to finish first as match play began today in the 28th annual tourney.

Harvey won medal honors with 138 for 36 holes—shooting a four-under-par 67 in Wednesday's second half of the qualifying round. He battled strong southerly winds as well as a select field of challengers on the 6,585-yard Ponce de Leon course.

Ed Brantley of Signal Mountain, Tenn., finished second with 72-68—140 but withdrew from the tourney, saying personal affairs required him to leave.

First-day leaders Larry Beck of Kingston, N.C., and James Paul of Delray Beach, Fla., strayed over par in the second half of qualifying play. Beck finished third with 68-74—142. Paul had 68-75—143, tied with Bob Tomlinson of Jacksonville, Fla., who shot 69-74.

Mayasich May Return to Action Saturday

Canadian Senior Champion Chatham Club Invades

GREEN BAY — Barring a recurrence of the injury during practice, Player-Coach John Mayasich will return to action with the Bobcats for the first time in three weeks when they welcome the Canadian senior champion Chatham, Ont., Maroons at the Brown County Arena Saturday night.

Mayasich has been sidelined with severely strained shoulder muscles since Feb. 2, following a collision with Toledo Mercury defenseman Bert Aikens late in the second period of the Bobcats' 8-6 loss to the International Hockey League's Eastern Division leaders.

The shoulder "still is a little sore," Mayasich reported Wednesday upon returning to practice, "but it had some strength in it. I should be able to play Saturday night."

Mayasich, a hero in the United States' Olympic victory at Squaw Valley, Calif., last year, is scheduled to join the United States Nationals next week for competition in the 1961 world hockey championships at Geneva, Switzerland, to be held March 2-12.

Accompanied by Poole

The four-time former University of Minnesota All-American will be accompanied by Jackie Poole, veteran Bobcat wingman and the team's No. 2 scorer, who will be making his debut in international competition.

Return of Mayasich, the Bobcats' leading scorer until his injury, bolstered the Green Bay skaters' chances against Chatham, defending senior champions of Canada. Their hopes had been dimmed by the possibility that center Pete Buchmann, one of the team's leading pointmakers, will not be able to play. Buchmann is suffering from the recurrence of an old knee injury.

Gerry Martilla has taken over the club scoring lead, with 61 points.

White Sox Figure to Fly 26,122 Miles During '61 Season Schedule

Jet Flights are Almost Same Thing As Charter Trips

CHICAGO (AP) — Around and around they go, and when they come down they play baseball.

That's how the 1961 schedule looks for the Chicago White Sox, as well as other major league clubs, on the airplane flight log. The Sox figure to fly 26,122 miles in their schedule hedging-hopping this season. That's the estimate given by Bob Procnar, United Airlines account executive who handles most of baseball's bookings.

"This mileage is a little more than once around the world," he says, "and if you break it down into revenue passenger miles, on a basis of 40 players on each trip it comes to 1,044,000.

By defeating the third-place Chicago Blackhawks 4-2 Wednesday, the Rangers remained unbeaten in their three daylight games. They tied the other two—2-2 against Detroit in January and 3-3 against the Montreal Canadiens Feb. 11.

The victory put the Rangers eight points behind the fourth-place Detroit Red Wings and kept them mathematically in the race for a playoff spot.

Trade Gives Kuenn New Lease on Life

Harvey Unconcerned Over Tricky Winds in Candlestick Park

MIAMI (AP) — Harvey Kuenn says the recent trade that sent him from Cleveland to San Francisco for Johnny Antonelli and Willie Kirkland is the best thing that has happened to him in a long time.

"It's given me a new lease on life," he said Wednesday. "It's given me an incentive. It's made me want to play all the harder to show that I'm not one of those guys who is always being traded from one club to another."

"Frank Lane once told me that lots of times when a fellow is traded he wants to do better. I believe it now. I want to do better for many reasons. I think the Giants potentially have a championship team, and I want to be an important part of it.

"I have a great deal of respect and admiration for Alvin Dark and I'm willing to play anywhere he wants me to play. I think he's going to make a great manager."

Has Balked

Kuenn, a converted outfielder, has on occasions balked at returning to the infield, although he once had been an all-star shortstop with the Tigers.

"I'd rather play in the outfield, of course," he said, "but I'll play shortstop, or third base, or even first base, if Dark asks me to. I wouldn't do that for a lot of other clubs."

Harvey, who batted over .300 in eight of his nine seasons as an American League, and was batting champion in 1959, isn't a bit concerned about the tricky winds in Candlestick Park that have held down the averages of practically every hitter on the Giants, including Willie Mays.

Not Worrying

"First of all, I'm no slugger so I am not worrying about losing potential home runs," he said. "But as I see it, a ball park shouldn't hurt a club because of its drawbacks. There isn't a perfect park in the big leagues."

"There are complaints everywhere. The wind blows in every park. No two parks are alike. The fences are different, the in-fields are different, even the mounds are different. Some clubs doctor their infields and mounds to help the home team."

"You've got to have positive thinking. There is no sense going out to the park with two strikes on you before you event come to bat. You've just got to adjust yourself."

Huskies' Owens Accepts Bid to Coach West '11'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jim Owens of Washington and Dan Devine of Missouri have accepted invitations to coach the West Squad for the 37th annual Shrine East-West Football game Dec. 20 in Kezar Stadium.

Managing director William Coffman announced the acceptances today. Owens, who has coached the University of Washington to two straight Rose Bowl victories, will be head coach.

Devine, whose Missouri Tigers beat Navy in the 1961 Orange Bowl game, will be an assistant. Coffman said another assistant will be selected in the near future.

He previously had announced that Joe Kuharich of Notre Dame will coach the East, directed in recent years by Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin.

Delay Start of Baton Rouge Open Tourney

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — With some sunshine expected to help dry out the Sherwood Forest Country Club course, entrants in the $20,000 Baton Rouge Open today took advantage of a day's delay in starting the tournament to get accustomed to the course.

The 72-hole event was due to start today but officials delayed it 24 hours because of weather conditions. It will run through Sunday.

Heading the field will be defending champion Arnold Palmer, fresh from his victory in the Phoenix Open, and the venerable Sam Snead, who set the tourney record here of 275 when he last competed in the event in 1953.

The winter tour's leading money winner, Gary Player of South Africa, will play in a threesome with 1952 winner Jack Burke Jr. and former LSU star Johnny Pott of Shreveport.

Charles Deeth to Resign as I-S's Basketball Coach

IOLA — Charles Deeth, coach at the Iola-Scandinavia High School, announces that he will resign as basketball coach at the close of the present season. He gives health as the reason.

Deeth will remain on the faculty and says he expects to continue to coach baseball and will probably assist with football if it is included in the school athletic program next.

Bonnies Seek 99th Straight Win in Tiny Olean Armory

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)—The basketball court in the Olean Armory, home base for second-ranked St. Bonaventure, is regulation length and almost regulation width. But the shallow bleachers on the sides and the deep stands at the ends give it the feel of a long hall.

Prove It Favored To Win $145,000 Race Saturday

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—A field of about 11 shaped up today to run in the guaranteed $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap Saturday, with Prove It the probable odds-on favorite.

Expected to be named today were American Comet, Tompion, New Policy, Sea Orbit, Prince Blessed, Grey Eagle, First Balcony, Free Copy, Top Caliber, Oink and Prove It.

Prove It, from the stable of Rex Ellsworth which raced the great fact fate never ordained it. And Swaps several years back, has been beaten only once in nine starts.

The 4-year-old Prove It won the $100,000-added Santa Anita Maternity in January and handicappers predicted he will go to the post at odds as low as 3-5.

Expensive Shoots

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Facilities at this missile test center, including equipment on 12 down range island tracking stations, represent a total capital investment of nearly 800 million dollars.

Local fans claim the Bonnies themselves never play a really good game here. The team prefers the first-class comfort of Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium, where the fat of the home schedule is played. But nobody can deny the shock value of the armory as a home club weapon.

Buckeyes Lose Lead in Some Departments

Iowa Defensive Pacer; Indiana Tops in Rebounds

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State is human after all. The undefeated Buckeyes this week have lost some of their statistical advantage.

OSU is tops only in offense and shooting averages after previously making clean sweeps of the statistical board. The Bucks' average of 84 points a game, a floor shooting percentage of 50.2, and 74.5 from the foul line are unmatched, according to Big Ten figures.

Ohio State's bow out of the No. 1 spot in virtually all categories came after slim victories of 62-61 over Iowa and 73-69 over Indiana.

Purdue's Terry Dischinger widened his gap in a scoring race with Ohio State's Jerry Lucas by boosting his average to 26.7. Lucas has 25.3. They were trailed by Walt Bellamy, Indiana, 19.9; Dave Downey, Illinois, and Don Nelson, Iowa, each 19.4 and Dick Hall, Michigan State, 16.7.

Lucas continued as the top rebounder with 15.9 captures a game.

Playing Third Was Nightmare

Johnny Temple Seeks Comeback In Return to Second Base Job

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — About a lot of his reputation as one of the best third base where he became a lukewarm hot corner man.

called Johnny Temple at his home. His pride was shattered and his "It was a nightmare," Temple play affected last season when he recalled with a shudder. "It killed the whole year for me. It made

"Did you know that Frank Lane was uprooted" from his second base position, where he was an for a long and unhappy season for sas City for Jerry Lumpe and was established star and stationed at me."

Temple, acquired from Cincinnati for Cal McLush, Billy Martin and Gordon Coleman, was batting .300 when he suffered a leg injury in June and was sidelined for a month. When he was ready to return to the lineup a month later, Manager Joe Gordon sent him to third base because Ken Aspromonte, his replacement, had caught fire at the plate and was doing a creditable job at second base.

Three Fox Cities area wrestlers — two from Bonduel and one from Wittenberg — will seek individual titles in the state high school meet at Madison Friday and Saturday.

Wittenberg's Ron Bessette, undefeated in 17 matches, draws Milwaukee Bay View's Jim Spataro (14-3-1) as his first opponent in the 112-pound class Friday.

At 103 pounds, Bonduel's Jim looks forward to the new season.

Sobieszyk (6-2) meets Menominee's Rocky Flint (20-0-1). Bondue's old eagerness, Aspromonte is gone against Beloit's Richard Hayes in the 145-pound class.

Sixty-nine schools, a total seven higher than last year's, have qualified boys for the state meet. De-Anderson, general manager and fending champion Coleman rules as one of the team favorites, along with Amery, Tomah and Madison East.

First-round bouts start at 1 p.m. Friday in the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse. The finals are set for 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Kansas State Whips Kansas, Practically Cinches NCAA Berth

Count Tex Winter's Kansas State Wildcats in for their third crack in the last four years at the NCAA basketball championship.

The Wildcats, bidding for their fifth Big Eight title in Winter's eight seasons as head coach, just about put away the NCAA berth Wednesday night when they shrugged off a slow start and whipped arch-rival Kansas, 81-63 at Manhattan, Kan.

The Cats and the Jayhawks, who beat 'em out for the tournament spot in a playoff last year, are tied for the conference lead now with 8-2 records with Iowa State and Colorado, both at 5-5.

St. Joseph's (Pa.) moved with- 64-57.

Thursday, Feb. 23, 1961 Appleton Post-Crescent DA

in one game of nailing the Middle Atlantic Conference's NCAA berth and NIT entries Dayton and DePaul won major tests in other features of the Wednesday program. St. Joseph's pulled away in the late going for a 92-67 rout of Bucknell.

6-Game Skeln Dayton, pushing its winning streak to six for a 17-6 record, routed Xavier of Ohio, 94-71 as Garry Roggenbuck scored 24. DePaul, trailing at halftime, fired in 12 straight points soon after the intermission and downed NCAA-bound Louisville 75-67.

LaSalle and Seattle, a couple of tournament possibilities won again—the LaSalle Explorers (14-5) thumping Lafayette 104-86 and Seattle (15-7) snapped Idaho State's 11-game winning streak, 64-57.

Clyde Rhoden took 11 shots, hit 10 as Arkansas won a Southwest Conference game from TCU 96-76. Maryland won a 77-62 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over Virginia.

Two of the nation's top ten scorers had big nights. East Tennessee's Tom Chilton, who ranks No. 2 with a 31.5 average, scored 35 points and plucked 21 rebounds in an 82-79 triumph over Wofford. Gettysburg's Ron Warner set a school career record of 1,153 points although he's only a junior—netting 30 in an 87-60 rout of Elizabethtown (Pa.)

Florida, challenging for the Southeastern Conference's NCAA berth, nipped non-leaguer Florida State, 75-74, and soph Bill O'Connor's 34 points led Canisius' 83-78 whipping of Syracuse

LOCAL RED CROSS DISASTER PLAN READY

Through your local Red Cross Chapter, and its hundreds of volunteers, a local disaster plan has been organized, staffed and supplied. There are specific duties, with specific disaster stations, for specific people — if the time ever comes. (Several local families have already had such help and they know how Red Cross works.)

This local Red Cross Disaster plan is complete and ready, down to the smallest detail. Who would feed us? Where would medical help be found? Who provides the needed clothing? Who manages the news and advice to the citizens? Don't think it can't happen. It already has happened: in Green Bay, in Colfax and Berlin, not far from here.

As a citizen, you only need to know that the plan exists, and that it is ready to help you; that it will swing into immediate action whenever the help may be needed.

How can you help? How can you make sure that such plans and programs are ready?

All you need do is renew your annual Red Cross membership! March is Red Cross Month and the "members and funds campaign" begins March 1st. Red Cross Volunteers, your neighbors, will call at your home for your membership subscription. No solicitations are made where you work. Red Cross reaches people at home, where they live.

Red Cross in Outagamie County depends on the people who live here. You are the ones who will benefit from these volunteer services.

Again, this year, enroll your entire family in a joint family membership. Help guarantee the continuation of Red Cross service.

Red Cross cares about you . . . you may want Red Cross to care for you!

Fox Cities Response To Opera Heartening

'Popular Demand' Returns Festival Program to Appleton's Silver Screen

BY JINGO

"By popular demand" has had such appeal that its use has threatened to rob it of some of its power. However, the Appleton Theatre, March 7, will gamble on what appears to be a truly compelling example of popular demand.

Last fall, Stanley Gross, the manager, booked six grand opera films and had the old-time cinema palace experience of managing a long line of waiting ticket buyers and the unusual experience of turning away customers from full houses. Encouraged, Gross asked if his patrons would care for more and he was met with "popular demand."

The second Grand Opera Festival will get underway March 7 with Verdi's "Il Trovatore" by the company and orchestra of the Rome Opera House. On March 14 the Teatro del Opera of Rome will present Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" with Gina Lollobrigida appearing as the clown's faithless wife.

A week later the opera will be Gounod's "Faust" by the Accademia di Santa Cecilia of Rome and the festival is scheduled to end with Verdi's "La Traviata" again by the Rome Opera House on March 28.

It's heartening to think there is even an appearance of "popular demand" for such a program. Jingo certainly hopes Stan Gross won't be disappointed.

Jingo has always thought the TV serial "Aquanauts" had an unfortunate name. Some skeptics might say some of the antics in the so-called plot could prompt the mispronunciation of "Aquanauts." Last night was evidence that, perhaps, someone else thought—or did—the same thing. "Aquanauts," last night, became "Malibu Run."

There's nothing unlucky about 13 for that lucky Irishman Ed Sullivan. The shewman working his 13th year before the cyclop's eye has recently signed a new five year contract.

Those ultramoderns who are want to poo - poo anything not of the century's second half will get a chance to compare cinematic art from their easy chair. The late - late shows will have for the 1961-62 season the pleasure of watching post - 1950 films on NBC stations. Not to compete with the network's weekday star, the films will be aired on Saturdays.

Dinah Shore is hardly the one to object to a vehicle if it will star her, but when her sponsor wants its vehicle to use her as its vehicle then she's had enough. She'll finish the season but next fall she'll urge her watchers to use some other product—some product that'll let her star, of course.

New '61 Chevy with Jet-smooth ride!

Impulse 1-Door Sedan—Jet-smooth transfer that rools the luxury cars in everything but price

The '61 Chevy loves to go because it goes so well. Purrs along pavements like a happy tabby. Takes rough roads in stride and all roads in style.

Just why does a Jet-smooth Chevy treat riders as royally as the high-priced luxury cars? It all came about through a delightful blend of Full Coil suspension, precision-balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning, and a superb Body by Fisher insulated to hush away road sounds. All this adds up to less sway, less bounce, less dip, less dive, less tilt, less noise, less ... well you name it.

Now combine this Jet-smooth ride with conveniences to pamper you and roominess to relax in. Add a full measure of quiet good looks. Voila, you've got Chevy's formula.

And the proof is in the riding. When you sample a Jet-smooth Chevy at your Chevrolet dealer's we think you'll find it just to your taste.

Customer Shows Up Columnist as Lackadaisical in Imagination

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The customers are showing me up as a lackadaisical, bemused ne'er-do-well in the realms of research and imagination—and perhaps they should.

A week ago or so, I essayed to write some praise for the broad fields covered by Wisconsin place-names. I itemized the fact that in our state place-names we have girls' names, mens' names, flowers, trees, jewels, animals, presidents, colors, and also that our place-names are names of other places, too—but I was not, say the readers, very thorough.

Comes a treatise which not only lists many Wisconsin place-names I did not use, but which even puts 'em in story form. Written (created also) by Mrs. Leo Eggert of Shawano, the tract is titled "They Never Left Wisconsin."

Though Wisconsin is too big for me to squeeze all of the many place-names into this minuscule column, I now attempt to push as much of Mrs. Eggert's story into it as possible, edited somewhat for brevity. The place-names in her story are here in capital letters. Carry on, Mrs. Eggert:

Story of State

This is a story about Wisconsin. It could be told many ways, but I'm sure you'll find it interesting the way I reveal it to you.

It began many years ago when FRIENDSHIP and ROMANCE of CECIL and SPRING GREEN became a UNION. They settled on a homestead in the town of HARTLAND. It was covered with many kinds of trees. There were SPRUCE, MAPLE, TAMARACK, BIRCH, CEDAR, POPLAR, BASSWOOD, ROCK ELM and many others.

There was a BIG PATCH of HIGHLAND on one place so they decided to build their new home there. It was made from the logs hewn from some of the trees. Although it was GREENWOOD, it was GOODWOOD, and the little log house gave them COMFORT. . . . The first years were hard, but every year they would ADVANCE.

CECIL liked to farm. His dream was to own a large dairy farm and he made an ENDEAVOR to make it come true. He had a willing SPIRIT, and by working many nights after SUNSET he was sure to win.

Now and then he would add to the family larder. He sometimes used his WINCHESTER to shoot a BROWN DEER, or, in season, he would catch PICKEREL, or trap BEAVER for their pelts.

They loved children, and every few years would ADDISON or daughter until they had ten. First there was BRUCE, then STANLEY, and after that came SPENCER, THERESA, ARTHUR, FREDERIC, MARION, FLORENCE, CLIFFORD and finally CAROLINE.

As the years passed many changes were made. The region they had settled was once all WOODLAND but many people had been out to PROSPECT for rich soil. New homes were built by the WAYSIDE.

Other Fields

As the children grew up, some of them left the RURAL area to BRANCH out into other fields. BRUCE spent a WINTER in ALASKA, STANLEY went to OXFORD, and it was there that he fell in love with CHRISTIE. He was the first to give up his FREEDOM.

Spencer decided to be a farmer. He liked to feel the BLACK EARTH beneath his feet. He hoped some day to own a RANGE of land like his dad. He and his wife, IOLA, had picked a place with ROLLING GROUND which would make a good WHEATLAND. The NORTHEAST had a CEDAR GROVE, and MIDWAY on the farm was a GREEN VALLEY which was WORTH the PRICE of the whole farm.

One day at a family reunion, CECIL and Spring told of their plans to retire and take a long trip. They went to places like LONDON, PARIS, BELGIUM, HOLLAND, DENMARK, AND HAMBURG, VIENNA, MILAN, ROME, GENOA, ATHENS and other wonderful places.

Returned Home

At last, when they returned home, a crowd of their friends met them at the station. It looked like a BEETOWN or a LITTLE CHICAGO with everybody swarming around.

They were glad to see their children and their grandchildren, but some were missing. TONY was going to PRINCETON and BLAINE was attending LAWRENCE College.

CECIL and Spring announced that they were planning to retire and live in something like EXILE.

They bought a fine place on SHAWANO LAKE where CECIL often sat with his PIPE contemplating the GRANDVIEW.

To this fine old couple, this was ALPHA, the beginning of a new life—like living in EDEN.

It was a beautiful story, wasn't it? You may think that, CECIL and Spring traveled through many cities, states, and countries on the GLOBE, but if you will look at a map of the Badger State, you will discover that they never left Wisconsin.

St. Norbert Tells Policy On Coeds

A major change in policy regarding resident coeds at St. Norbert College was announced by the Very Rev. Dennis M. Burke, O. Praem, college president.

Father Burke said St. Norbert plans to expand its program of coeducation to include resident coeds soon, but actually putting the plan into operation will have to wait until the college finances permit it.

The current coeducational program includes girls within commuting distance and a very limited number residing in college-owned homes near the campus.

The college must provide a residence hall for girls, although the policy has been approved by the college board of trustees.

Youths Sent Back to Jail by Judge to 'Refresh Memories'

OSHKOSH — Because they could not give satisfactory answers as to why they broke windows at the Winneconne and Winchester schools and the Larsen Co-operative, Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane sent three youths back to the county jail until 10 a.m. Friday to "refresh their memory."

The three are James I. Williams, 19, route 5, Oshkosh, Carl Buchanan, 18, and Warren Buchanan, 19, both of route 2, Omro. Windows were broken on the weekend of Feb. 11 and 12 with damage estimated at several hundred dollars. Beer bottles were used to break the three windows at the Winneconne school and stones at the other two buildings.
